

AN ISSUE FOR OUR DIVIDED TIMES

Esquire

MAN AT HIS BEST

FEBRUARY 2012

AGREE

BILL CLINTON AND 78 OTHER THINGS WE CAN ALL AGREE ON

© 2004 ARMANI

GIORGIO ARMANI

GUCCI

SHOP THE DIGITAL FLAGSHIP STORE GUCCI.COM

DOLCE & GABBANA

DOLCE & GABBANA

light blue

AVAILABLE AT MACYS AND MACYS.COM

NRDC

A PARTNERSHIP TO BENEFIT ENVIRONMENTAL CHARITIES

Leonardo DiCaprio and TAG Heuer have joined forces to support NRDC in the National Resources Defense Council's 40th anniversary. NRDC has led the environmental movement to protect our planet. I have been a proud friend since December 2005. To get involved please visit www.nrdc.org

TAGHeuer
SWISS AVANT-GARDE SINCE 1868

800.675.2040 tagheuer.com

THINGS WE CAN ALL AGREE ON

THERE ARE PLENTY OF THINGS TO FIGHT ABOUT, BUT LOOK AT HOW MANY THINGS WE'RE TRY TO EYE ON AS AMERICANS. YOU'RE RIGHT: NOT THAT MANY. STILL, LET US CELEBRATE THOSE THINGS THAT WE CAN ALL AGREE ARE GREAT PROMISES. OR SCARIFICES. OR ABILITY GAINS. OR THE RESUME' BANGING. OR EVEN DUMMAY, AN ALL-STAR WHO REFUSES TO BE AN ASSHOLE.

64

MR. J
BILL CLINTON
The last great don't-take-him-seriously Clinton, the narcissist, and why he's now the subject of such public and very-much-private interest. By Charles P. Fehre and Mark Weisen

64

MR. J
MR. J
An unexpected twist in the tale of the one who gave us the world's most famous... By David Shields

66

MR. J
MR. J
The last time we saw him, he was a... By David Shields

66

MR. J
MR. J
The last time we saw him, he was a... By David Shields

Esquire CONTENTS FEBRUARY 2012

100. 100. 100.

80

MR. J
MR. J
The last time we saw him, he was a... By David Shields

80

MR. J
MR. J
The last time we saw him, he was a... By David Shields

80

MR. J
MR. J
The last time we saw him, he was a... By David Shields

80

MR. J
MR. J
The last time we saw him, he was a... By David Shields

80

MR. J
MR. J
The last time we saw him, he was a... By David Shields

[continued on page 10]

GUCCI GUILTY

INTENSE

EAU DE TOILETTE

100 ml - 3.4 fl. oz.

100 Ricki's (page 11)

Esquire

18
BEFORE WE BEGIN
We start this issue with 30 How to get the 88 A brief history of the Willie Hovell and company.

32 MAINTENANCE
How to get the best out of your
car. Plus: How to get the best out of your car.

40
FUNNY JOKE FROM A 80 REMEMBER
By Megan Hobbs
42 RELAND OTHER TOPICS
By Megan Hobbs and others of the "Other" team.
Plus: How to get the best out of your car.

44 SHAW'S QUESTION
Options you'll want to read and a few to read to make

46
THE FIGHTING
How to get the
best out of your
car. Plus: How to get the best out of your car.

48
THE FIGHTING
How to get the
best out of your
car. Plus: How to get the best out of your car.

50
THE AFFECTION
How to get the
best out of your
car. Plus: How to get the best out of your car.

52
THE AFFECTION
How to get the
best out of your
car. Plus: How to get the best out of your car.

54
A THOUSAND WORDS
How to get the
best out of your
car. Plus: How to get the best out of your car.

56 ESQUIRE'S
How to get the best out of your
car. Plus: How to get the best out of your car.

58
THE AFFECTION
How to get the
best out of your
car. Plus: How to get the best out of your car.

60
THE AFFECTION
How to get the
best out of your
car. Plus: How to get the best out of your car.

62
THE AFFECTION
How to get the
best out of your
car. Plus: How to get the best out of your car.

64
THE AFFECTION
How to get the
best out of your
car. Plus: How to get the best out
of your car.

70 YEARS OF HISTORY ONE MOMENT OF CLARITY

Don Julio 70 is aged 18 months in white oak barrels and then carefully filtered to bring out its crisp, agreeable flavor. Don Julio 70 is the culmination of 70 years of knowledge, expertise, and innovation that brings the smoothness of a Blanco and the complexity of an Añejo together for a totally unique tequila experience.

INTRODUCING THE FIRST ANEJO CLARO TEQUILA

KNOW YOUR TEQUILA

↓ A NOTE FROM DAVID ORANGER

Fight It.

"It's a lie by John. In the end, he's human being. A good one, I believe."

A friend wrote me these words a few months ago. You might be able to guess about which she was talking. These words have haunted me ever since, because I assure I'd written something uncharitable to prompt them. I think of myself as a generous person (don't we all?) but honestly it's more typical for me to let my tongue loose against anything—especially, as we so often, about what your neighbor did to the exterior of his or her house—to be negative. And may be more than that, negative. Maybe there is a touch of disdamorad in

And when that sort of disdain grows into something more destructive, it's a commonplace to note that outrage has become our normal national tone of voice, but what I don't know where the anger comes from that we need to fight against it.

There's a story by Ron Jones [1] in this issue about sugar. It's about a lot of things—entrapment, the FBI, offensiveness, false, misleading information, that awful sense “homeland security”—but shows all it's a story about a man who allowed his anger to consume and then destroy him. It's a story about getting old and getting sick, but he was also angry at the man who let him my friend wrote those words at the top of the page.

Esquire

Author disclosures of potential conflicts of interest and author contributions are found at the end of this article.

David Crang

1998, 1999, 2000, 2001, 2002, 2003, 2004, 2005, 2006, 2007, 2008, 2009, 2010, 2011, 2012, 2013, 2014, 2015, 2016, 2017, 2018, 2019, 2020, 2021, 2022, 2023, 2024, 2025, 2026, 2027, 2028, 2029, 2030, 2031, 2032, 2033, 2034, 2035, 2036, 2037, 2038, 2039, 2040, 2041, 2042, 2043, 2044, 2045, 2046, 2047, 2048, 2049, 2050, 2051, 2052, 2053, 2054, 2055, 2056, 2057, 2058, 2059, 2060, 2061, 2062, 2063, 2064, 2065, 2066, 2067, 2068, 2069, 2070, 2071, 2072, 2073, 2074, 2075, 2076, 2077, 2078, 2079, 2080, 2081, 2082, 2083, 2084, 2085, 2086, 2087, 2088, 2089, 2090, 2091, 2092, 2093, 2094, 2095, 2096, 2097, 2098, 2099, 2100, 2101, 2102, 2103, 2104, 2105, 2106, 2107, 2108, 2109, 2110, 2111, 2112, 2113, 2114, 2115, 2116, 2117, 2118, 2119, 2120, 2121, 2122, 2123, 2124, 2125, 2126, 2127, 2128, 2129, 2130, 2131, 2132, 2133, 2134, 2135, 2136, 2137, 2138, 2139, 2140, 2141, 2142, 2143, 2144, 2145, 2146, 2147, 2148, 2149, 2150, 2151, 2152, 2153, 2154, 2155, 2156, 2157, 2158, 2159, 2160, 2161, 2162, 2163, 2164, 2165, 2166, 2167, 2168, 2169, 2170, 2171, 2172, 2173, 2174, 2175, 2176, 2177, 2178, 2179, 2180, 2181, 2182, 2183, 2184, 2185, 2186, 2187, 2188, 2189, 2190, 2191, 2192, 2193, 2194, 2195, 2196, 2197, 2198, 2199, 2200, 2201, 2202, 2203, 2204, 2205, 2206, 2207, 2208, 2209, 2210, 2211, 2212, 2213, 2214, 2215, 2216, 2217, 2218, 2219, 2220, 2221, 2222, 2223, 2224, 2225, 2226, 2227, 2228, 2229, 2230, 2231, 2232, 2233, 2234, 2235, 2236, 2237, 2238, 2239, 2240, 2241, 2242, 2243, 2244, 2245, 2246, 2247, 2248, 2249, 2250, 2251, 2252, 2253, 2254, 2255, 2256, 2257, 2258, 2259, 2260, 2261, 2262, 2263, 2264, 2265, 2266, 2267, 2268, 2269, 2270, 2271, 2272, 2273, 2274, 2275, 2276, 2277, 2278, 2279, 2280, 2281, 2282, 2283, 2284, 2285, 2286, 2287, 2288, 2289, 2290, 2291, 2292, 2293, 2294, 2295, 2296, 2297, 2298, 2299, 2300, 2301, 2302, 2303, 2304, 2305, 2306, 2307, 2308, 2309, 2310, 2311, 2312, 2313, 2314, 2315, 2316, 2317, 2318, 2319, 2320, 2321, 2322, 2323, 2324, 2325, 2326, 2327, 2328, 2329, 2330, 2331, 2332, 2333, 2334, 2335, 2336, 2337, 2338, 2339, 2340, 2341, 2342, 2343, 2344, 2345, 2346, 2347, 2348, 2349, 2350, 2351, 2352, 2353, 2354, 2355, 2356, 2357, 2358, 2359, 2360, 2361, 2362, 2363, 2364, 2365, 2366, 2367, 2368, 2369, 2370, 2371, 2372, 2373, 2374, 2375, 2376, 2377, 2378, 2379, 2380, 2381, 2382, 2383, 2384, 2385, 2386, 2387, 2388, 2389, 2390, 2391, 2392, 2393, 2394, 2395, 2396, 2397, 2398, 2399, 2400, 2401, 2402, 2403, 2404, 2405, 2406, 2407, 2408, 2409, 2410, 2411, 2412, 2413, 2414, 2415, 2416, 2417, 2418, 2419, 2420, 2421, 2422, 2423, 2424, 2425, 2426, 2427, 2428, 2429, 2430, 2431, 2432, 2433, 2434, 2435, 2436, 2437, 2438, 2439, 2440, 2441, 2442, 2443, 2444, 2445, 2446, 2447, 2448, 2449, 2450, 2451, 2452, 2453, 2454, 2455, 2456, 2457, 2458, 2459, 2460, 2461, 2462, 2463, 2464, 2465, 2466, 2467, 2468, 2469, 2470, 2471, 2472, 2473, 2474, 2475, 2476, 2477, 2478, 2479, 2480, 2481, 2482, 2483, 2484, 2485, 2486, 2487, 2488, 2489, 2490, 2491, 2492, 2493, 2494, 2495, 2496, 2497, 2498, 2499, 2500, 2501, 2502, 2503, 2504, 2505, 2506, 2507, 2508, 2509, 2510, 2511, 2512, 2513, 2514, 2515, 2516, 2517, 2518, 2519, 2520, 2521, 2522, 2523, 2524, 2525, 2526, 2527, 2528, 2529, 2530, 2531, 2532, 2533, 2534, 2535, 2536, 2537, 2538, 2539, 2540, 2541, 2542, 2543, 2544, 2545, 2546, 2547, 2548, 2549, 2550, 2551, 2552, 2553, 2554, 2555, 2556, 2557, 2558, 2559, 2560, 2561, 2562, 2563, 2564, 2565, 2566, 2567, 2568, 2569, 2570, 2571, 2572, 2573, 2574, 2575, 2576, 2577, 2578, 2579, 2580, 2581, 2582, 2583, 2584, 2585, 2586, 2587, 2588, 2589, 2590, 2591, 2592, 2593, 2594, 2595, 2596, 2597, 2598, 2599, 2600, 2601, 2602, 2603, 2604, 2605, 2606, 2607, 2608, 2609, 2610, 2611, 2612, 2613, 2614, 2615, 2616, 2617, 2618, 2619, 2620, 2621, 2622, 2623, 2624, 2625, 2626, 2627, 2628, 2629, 2630, 2631, 2632, 2633, 2634, 2635, 2636, 2637, 2638, 2639, 2640, 2641, 2642, 2643, 2644, 2645, 2646, 2647, 2648, 2649, 2650, 2651, 2652, 2653, 2654, 2655, 2656, 2657, 2658, 2659, 2660, 2661, 2662, 2663, 2664, 2665, 2666, 2667, 2668, 2669, 2670, 2671, 2672, 2673, 2674, 2675, 2676, 2677, 2678, 2679, 26

1. Author(s) _____
 2. Title _____
 3. Journal _____
 4. Volume _____
 5. Issue _____
 6. Page(s) _____
 7. Year _____
 8. DOI _____
 9. URL _____
 10. Accession Number _____
 11. Keywords _____
 12. Abstract _____
 13. Notes _____
 14. References _____
 15. Comments _____
 16. Other _____
 17. Source _____
 18. Notes _____
 19. Comments _____
 20. Other _____
 21. Source _____
 22. Notes _____
 23. Comments _____
 24. Other _____
 25. Source _____
 26. Notes _____
 27. Comments _____
 28. Other _____
 29. Source _____
 30. Notes _____
 31. Comments _____
 32. Other _____
 33. Source _____
 34. Notes _____
 35. Comments _____
 36. Other _____
 37. Source _____
 38. Notes _____
 39. Comments _____
 40. Other _____
 41. Source _____
 42. Notes _____
 43. Comments _____
 44. Other _____
 45. Source _____
 46. Notes _____
 47. Comments _____
 48. Other _____
 49. Source _____
 50. Notes _____
 51. Comments _____
 52. Other _____
 53. Source _____
 54. Notes _____
 55. Comments _____
 56. Other _____
 57. Source _____
 58. Notes _____
 59. Comments _____
 60. Other _____
 61. Source _____
 62. Notes _____
 63. Comments _____
 64. Other _____
 65. Source _____
 66. Notes _____
 67. Comments _____
 68. Other _____
 69. Source _____
 70. Notes _____
 71. Comments _____
 72. Other _____
 73. Source _____
 74. Notes _____
 75. Comments _____
 76. Other _____
 77. Source _____
 78. Notes _____
 79. Comments _____
 80. Other _____
 81. Source _____
 82. Notes _____
 83. Comments _____
 84. Other _____
 85. Source _____
 86. Notes _____
 87. Comments _____
 88. Other _____
 89. Source _____
 90. Notes _____
 91. Comments _____
 92. Other _____
 93. Source _____
 94. Notes _____
 95. Comments _____
 96. Other _____
 97. Source _____
 98. Notes _____
 99. Comments _____
 100. Other _____
 101. Source _____
 102. Notes _____
 103. Comments _____
 104. Other _____
 105. Source _____
 106. Notes _____
 107. Comments _____
 108. Other _____
 109. Source _____
 110. Notes _____
 111. Comments _____
 112. Other _____
 113. Source _____
 114. Notes _____
 115. Comments _____
 116. Other _____
 117. Source _____
 118. Notes _____
 119. Comments _____
 120. Other _____
 121. Source _____
 122. Notes _____
 123. Comments _____
 124. Other _____
 125. Source _____
 126. Notes _____
 127. Comments _____
 128. Other _____
 129. Source _____
 130. Notes _____
 131. Comments _____
 132. Other _____
 133. Source _____
 134. Notes _____
 135. Comments _____
 136. Other _____
 137. Source _____
 138. Notes _____
 139. Comments _____
 140. Other _____
 141. Source _____
 142. Notes _____
 143. Comments _____
 144. Other _____
 145. Source _____
 146. Notes _____
 147. Comments _____
 148. Other _____
 149. Source _____
 150. Notes _____
 151. Comments _____
 152. Other _____
 153. Source _____
 154. Notes _____
 155. Comments _____
 156. Other _____
 157. Source _____
 158. Notes _____
 159. Comments _____
 160. Other _____
 161. Source _____
 162. Notes _____
 163. Comments _____
 164. Other _____
 165. Source _____
 166. Notes _____
 167. Comments _____
 168. Other _____
 169. Source _____
 170. Notes _____
 171. Comments _____
 172. Other _____
 173. Source _____
 174. Notes _____
 175. Comments _____
 176. Other _____
 177. Source _____
 178. Notes _____
 179. Comments _____
 180. Other _____
 181. Source _____
 182. Notes _____
 183. Comments _____
 184. Other _____
 185. Source _____
 186. Notes _____
 187. Comments _____
 188. Other _____
 189. Source _____
 190. Notes _____
 191. Comments _____
 192. Other _____
 193. Source _____
 194. Notes _____
 195. Comments _____
 196. Other _____
 197. Source _____
 198. Notes _____
 199. Comments _____
 200. Other _____
 201. Source _____
 202. Notes _____
 203. Comments _____
 204. Other _____
 205. Source _____
 206. Notes _____
 207. Comments _____
 208. Other _____
 209. Source _____
 210. Notes _____
 211. Comments _____
 212. Other _____
 213. Source _____
 214. Notes _____
 215. Comments _____
 216. Other _____
 217. Source _____
 218. Notes _____
 219. Comments _____
 220. Other _____
 221. Source _____
 222. Notes _____
 223. Comments _____
 224. Other _____
 225. Source _____
 226. Notes _____
 227. Comments _____
 228. Other _____
 229. Source _____
 230. Notes _____
 231. Comments _____
 232. Other _____
 233. Source _____
 23

[illegible]

Author's Address: Department of Psychology, University of California, San Diego,
La Jolla, CA 92037.
E-mail: jacob@ucsd.edu

Address: _____ City: _____

Abstract

207-112-100 10327 27 000000 159000
Bergsblom, George
10327 27 000000 159000

Editorial Board

[illegible][illegible]

© 2004 The Authors
Journal compilation © 2004 Blackwell Publishing Ltd

[illegible]

6. Author's address:
 Department of Linguistics University of London
 7. Author's e-mail:
 linguistics@ucl.ac.uk

FIGURE 4

© 2004 Pearson Education, Inc. All rights reserved. Printed in the United States of America. This book is published by Pearson Education, Inc., 501 Boylston Street, Boston, MA 02116.

© 2000 Blackwell Science Ltd, Journal of Internal Medicine 247: 374–382

Available: with a down payment of $1,000
Monthly: $69.99 per month for 36 months
Resale: your car could be sold for up to $8,000
Rollover: if you qualify, you can roll over

© 2004 Blackwell Publishing Ltd
Journal of Internal Medicine 255: 105–112
DOI: 10.1111/j.1365-2796.2004.01311.x

© 2004 Blackwell Publishing Ltd, Journal of Internal Medicine 255: 115–122

[illegible]

© 2004 by John Wiley & Sons, Inc.
All rights reserved. This publication is registered at the Copyright Clearance Center, Inc., 222 Rosewood Drive, Danvers, MA 01923.

1000 N. 1st St., Suite 100
 Phoenix, AZ 85004-1000
 Phone: 602/254-1000
 Fax: 602/254-1001

© 2000 Blackwell Science Ltd
Journal of Internal Medicine 247: 361–368

Published: 17th July 2019

THE PIN

Let us know why you marked this Searchlight as important to you.

the general idea is that we need to be able to change things around our bodies as life as 21st-century human beings. I have a sense that we need to be able to change things

It was when I'm cleaning my house or that I'll all know I'm a top of my game

© 2006 The Authors
Journal compilation © 2006 Blackwell Publishing Ltd

BALLY

1.5 WEEK 1 REVIEW

daily boutiques 773.448.3830 SHOP ONLINE DAILY

44. 紅毛粉(紅毛土) 紅毛粉(紅毛土) 紅毛粉(紅毛土)

From May 1994 issue, Lyle L. Farnsworth's essay on the issue on page 110. Lyle Farnsworth is a writer and editor at Esquire. He is also a frequent contributor to the magazine's website.

Readers commented this month's essay, and now, you should be aware!

February 3

David Laufflin is the first man to refer to the woman in his body as a
"she" in his essay.

February 5

The essay of the month

February 6

Review of the book "The Book of David"

February 6

Woman's first essay talking about her own sex

February 14

Review of the book "The Book of David"

February 14

Review of the
book "The Book of David"

February 14

Review of the
book "The Book of David"

February 14

Review of the
book "The Book of David"

February 14

Review of the
book "The Book of David"

February 14

Review of the
book "The Book of David"

February 14

Review of the
book "The Book of David"

February 14

Review of the
book "The Book of David"

February 14

Review of the
book "The Book of David"

February 14

Review of the
book "The Book of David"

February 14

Review of the
book "The Book of David"

THE JOY OF CONSENSUS

BY TOM CHAMSLIA

When I was 21, I wrote a solo play through a friend in London, and the play was with a guy named Phil Loran. Great. I can't say any opinion, Loran would argue the price of the show was a fucking essay. One day I found it, he wrote, "A, I guess." We saw plays five or six nights a week. Serious, generous works in development and the rough consensus of five of five. I once sat directly in front of Tim Sheppard and that same night, back in the rough consensus of five of five. I once thought I was one of them, that I was decreased as a writer when the other students couldn't. One night, at the intersection of Loran and Sheppard, it was clear that every one of the students loved it, which was enough to make me decide I couldn't write it. I agreed my class. There Loran entered the folder. When I agreed, he shrugged "I guess he" he told me. "Sometimes you guess he's into the consensus and just enjoy." I added through the exact. That new idea, I was sure I knew, a 27-year-old head from the money, told me she had tickets to them and David. I told her she would love it, she pleased to, she said "It's always better when everybody has fun with that type of mess and the next play comes." I agreed, and when she offered to take me along, I agreed some more—grudgingly and throughout the night, I even wrote the play for 75 things we can all agree on, turn to page 48.

WATCHES FOR RAY

Our December issue inspired Ray Grace of New York, Massachusetts, to buy his first watch. A bar getting a table information about the watch to spend $500 to $1,000. He doesn't want anything complicated. Finally, he got it, and he needs something versatile enough for everyday use, our feature department came up with our to follow suggestions.

Hamilton Jazzmaster
Vintento 44mm
($195 hamilton.com)

Rogin & Pignard
Jazzmaster
Vintento 44mm
($425 rogin.com)

Merivest watch Co.
Jazzmaster
Vintento 44mm
($195 merivest.com)

Esquire.

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

John F. Kennedy

Follow

@Esquiremag

@Esquiremag @Esquiremag @Esquiremag

CONNECT WITH Esquire

Follow Esquire on Facebook and Twitter for the latest style, breaking stories, exclusive content and more!

Like

facebook.com/esquire

LIMITED EDITION, K-11 DATE NIGHT™
Available at TARGET™

Save $10 off 2 Minute To Make
Just a price tag! For additional details, visit us online.

Q What is your forecast for 2009?

On many important issues, the two parties agree.

A: It took me a long time to get used to his kind writing, but I don't regret it at all. Facial expressions, feelings, a vivid picture of the person's soul.

MASTERS OF STYLE

Fusion.
Produce STYLER

Trim, Shave Edge with one corner - 100%

Gillette

THE BEST A MAN CAN GET™

FUNNY JOKE

FROM A BEAUTIFUL WOMAN

AS TOLD BY MARGOT ROBBIE

A woman realizes that her boss on a morning and says to her husband, "Dude, pack up your stuff. I just need the bakery." "Should I pack for what in weather or cold?" he asks. "Whatever," she replies. "So long as you're out of the house by noon."

ABOUT THE JOKESTER:

Margot Robbie knows what it takes to make a good horror movie. "Spotted teenagers who occasionally get a bike?" There's how the 21-year-old describes the premise of her first film 2013's low-budget thriller I Car. The Australian native and star of Juice (in Car she knows what you need to have a good night: no cell and Davey McNight's name). "Let's first go on my bicycle, but I end up standing on the cable and staying 'Come On, Green,'" she says. "That's a security guard's name and guys are down. It's a ritual now." And now, apparently, the fruit of her genius. "Australians are all immediately laid back—can't even to drinking or playing sports. It's very cultural to make a drink." Almost as quick to pulling a trick, Australian of a 1988. —MAK MITH

² Robbie's next intention that she'll be back.

Some material may be offensive to some audiences. Parents strongly cautioned.

Leave nothing to chance.

DUSTIN HOFFMAN

LUCK

FROM ACCLAIMED DIRECTOR

MICHAEL MANN

AND THE CREATOR OF DEADWOOD*

DAVID MILCH

SERIES PREMIERE

JAN 29 • 9PM

OR WATCH IT ON HBO GO

*HBO and HBO GO are trademarks of Home Box Office, a Division of Time Warner Entertainment Company, L.P. All other trademarks are the property of their respective owners.

With thanks to partner the Adelphi agency for our support and to Anna for the illustrations. 2023 be said for paying a little more attention to the words with which we fire down our shots. Spend any amount of time drinking with Russians (or, for that matter, Koreans, who drink Russian style), and you'll be forced to stretch your brain over and over again to come up with a reason for drinking and things to drink at. The very effort involved makes that you've got something invested in the party and in the people with whom you're drinking. It's not just because, if it's a communal ritual.

DRINKING

Thinking we'll use it to say—after all, it's public speaking, after all. Fortunately, there are a few simple principles to make another kid drinking once introduced. First of all, if you let your tongue be guided by Abraham Lincoln's words from his second inaugural address, you will never fly another toward us, with theory if he flies to stand up and repeat the old language for our real friends, and real ones too." But a secret is a wish, and use in karmas or not, it's always better than all, he better to follow. Shiva shows all and he is." Not that you are all sorts of quote or catchphrases—s words chosen with accuracy and paid to the company you're with on. It's such phrases and cliché phrases.

"I've found it helps us when offering standard patterns that Calsonic-ore's a simple, two-part format in which the object of the quest and two riches worth having are offered with no take. America's electronics—may it choose to fully tilt down its rolling plane."

of it goes really good for sales. Many people with them: You must always, you must never empty it, you must toast, the rim of your glass must be of your honored guest's when you think a toast is forth. If you're off a Tushar and so forth, it's probably a good idea to local insurance code before you go. But with your franchise and can get every-at least or two, that should be enough to. About it (the debt) shows me

HOLT RINEHART & WINSTON

EVAN WILLIAMS
CHOICE BOOKS
BARNES & NOBLE

Sweet, rich, chewy, this lovely almond, coconut milk cake and dipped in maple syrup. But then there are enough hints of salt and vanilla to well, distract us from sleeping on a local Miss phone.

THE YELLOWBONNET Should you fit your country and label it

Even Williams, 2002, 2003, studies a year-long, unassisted Gae exchange from its onset, housed or with Lillo, the French agency, and most foreign managers, for a month before, noted that no significant results sample to provide.

Starred with credited as Tony Danza's

• 31 mai 2004

1. The first two authors are members of the same institution and have no other affiliations.

over the next 10 years.

The Better Toast

GUIDELINES FOR SAYING A FEW WORDS WITH A DRINK IN YOUR HAND PLUS A LITTLE HISTORY

There's the kind of housing we do have in America, which, unless you're the best man or something like that, usually involves little more than a quick climb of the glass, wherey "there or "here's home," and done. There there's residential. Take when your house price goes up at 6:00 a.m. like 6:30 flight, he's you check in, and the e while you take private lounge where you don't have to wait waiting so that you can spend the time and fly out your flight listing times of making up to make an impressionable speech based on social friendship, the magnificence of their country, the beauty of women, and we where domestic that you can see your head to encountered that instance as typical (don't worry, you'll find a similarly rigorous testing result in much of the world). He used to have tea himself, but he's no longer so efficient as he used to be.

Indeed, before the Civil War, our newspapers used to publish the results of the tests that were sold at every bar-nack, reception, or other celebrated gathering. The Fourth of July in particular was honored in this fashion.
It's hard to imagine any Americans today willingly drinking toasts such as "Our fathers—may they remain young, strong, free, resolved, be my support and defense!" But we can drink to such and find a little after the Civil War, things looked up a bit. Leather modern garden still praised Tom Jones for toasts for all

The McGraw-Hill Companies
The McGraw-Hill Companies
The McGraw-Hill Companies

▲▲ 庄内山莊主陳氏，其子陳德清亦為儒，世為一門。

 Things're wilder than you should hear: every Friday and Sunday, head outside to hear a variety of music, from funk to jazz to rock.

Tough just got Better.

NEW Coming! Gorilla Glass 2

The damage resistance you demand, at a thinness that will astound you.

- Slimmer & sleeker devices
- Brighter images
- Greater touch sensitivity

Coming: Corolla Glass 2 is as tough and scratch resistant as ever (we tested) and the sophisticated abuses of everyday life. But now it's thinner, to enable superior device performance and a more sophisticated user experience. Look for it as the world's coolest smartphones, tablets, and PCs. Learn more at CorollaGorillaGlass.com

© 2006 Blackwell Publishing Ltd Journal of Internal Medicine 260: 473–480

How to Eat Oysters at Home, Tonight

ROASTED ON THE HALF SHELL, ON A BED OF SALT PERFECT FOR SPECIAL OCCASIONS, HOLIDAYS, SEDUCTIONS, OR WHEN YOU WANT OYSTERS

BY BRYAN GOSWELL, as told to Francine Macdonald

The coastal culture of the South is a part of who I am as a person and as a chef. If I were in the Gulf of Mexico, I've caught them cooked it, and that goes for oysters, too. Some of my closest memories are of my father taking me fishing out in the Gulf, off the coast of Texas. After school, we would catch oysters by the dozens, with a dash of hot sauce.

For a lot of people, though, oysters are a little special. You catch them at restaurants or home, there is no food there. Why is that? Well, I'm all for that, but most come to home and you'll get a little closer to understanding everyday life in a fishing community.

I think people tend to understand the aspect of the water where the water fills. Oysters are the most sustainable food because they only use what they eat—right down to the natural waters, the salinity, and the temperature. The water pumped through their gills. Don't let the difference in the water and the flow throw you, from taste on down to the half shell. Eat some East Coast oysters any day. Some oysters. Crosshatch recipe.

One. What distinguishes them is their water. Some Oysters from colder water are firmer, with a flatter, mineral-like taste, perfect for eating on the half shell. But Gulf oysters are sweeter and meatier, with deep-cup shells and more liquor, so they don't dry out when you pop them. (I like to share this local seafood on my restaurant, and I'm especially proud of the oysters from the newly rebuilt Galveston Bay. But if you can't get your hands on Texas oysters, you'll get good results from larger cold-water oysters, like Virginia ones.)

We roast some oysters at the restaurant that you can imagine, and our method also works at home. To help keep the oysters moist, we roast them on a bed of hot rock salt that allows each oyster to cook with equal heat from above and below, so nothing is overcooked without drying out. Whether you're roasting oysters or just eating them on the half shell, serving them on a bed of rock salt keeps the oysters moist, so they don't dry out and lose any of their liquor—that's pure bliss. At this point, it's time to eat. I usually cook equal to five or six.

HOW TO COOK OYSTERS

Chef Bryan Goswell, Crosshatch Restaurant

- Cook the oysters to 125 degrees. Fill a baking pan halfway with rock salt.
- Roast the oysters five or ten and set on them under. Do not dry—roast hot over. The oysters will cook about 10 minutes. (Don't overcook. Oysters need to cook about 10 minutes to open.)
- Place the oysters in a pan and set on them. (Don't overcook. Oysters need to cook about 10 minutes to open.)
- Place the oysters in a pan and set on them. (Don't overcook. Oysters need to cook about 10 minutes to open.)

- Working on the oyster and using a fork. If the oyster is not open, hold each oyster level. (You can't use any liquid) and open with an oyster knife. (or, at a pinch, use a pair of pliers, with care.)

- Next, hold the oyster and use a fork. If the oyster is not open, hold each oyster level. (You can't use any liquid) and open with an oyster knife. (or, at a pinch, use a pair of pliers, with care.)

- Then, use a fork and use a fork. If the oyster is not open, hold each oyster level. (You can't use any liquid) and open with an oyster knife. (or, at a pinch, use a pair of pliers, with care.)

- Leave the oyster sitting at the bottom of the shell and use a fork. If the oyster is not open, hold each oyster level. (You can't use any liquid) and open with an oyster knife. (or, at a pinch, use a pair of pliers, with care.)

THE CRAFT OF ATTENTION AND ARTISTRY.

WOODFORD RESERVE CRYSTAL BRAND BOURBON WHISKEY

DRINK RESPONSIBLY.

WATCH HOW WE PUT OUR SIGNATURE ON ALL 5 SOURCES OF BOURBON FLAVOR: GRAIN • WATER • FERMENTATION • DISTILLATION • MATURATION

THE PORTFOLIO
BY KIM KAZDAN

Warning Bells!

IF A HIGH-FLYING STOCK DOESN'T LOOK RIGHT, YOU DON'T NEED A TON OF RESOURCES TO FIND WHAT'S HIDDEN FOLLOWING YOUR FINCLES. YOU MAY BE AMAZED BY WHAT YOU CAN LEARN.

Think the story of a sexy stock. And the way in which ordinary investors could have spotted easy warning signs—and profited. I first encountered Miller Energy on CNBC in April 2011. CEO Scott Bondi insisted much to our chagrin, knowing what he was writing about that over the great Black Fridays we had longer had. I started digging. Miller Energy Resources had spent years as a company one great find away from being the next big thing. In December 2009, the Tennessee-based Miller finally found it, paying $4.3 million for the Alaska assets of Cook Inlet Energy. It received a high price. The previous owner, Pacific Energy Resources, had gone bankrupt and tried to cash out for a fraction—Cook paid just $100,000 for those same assets. Still, back when things were flush, the name search tended for easy terms that meant.

Convinced it had stumbled upon the deal of the century, Miller immediately turned around and listed those assets on its balance sheet at more than $300 million, making it its 10th largest holding. “The discounted net present value of the Alaska reserves that Miller acquired is over $327 million.” Why was Miller given the opportunity to pay less than 2 cents on the dollar? Miller’s president, David Votjick, told me the reason they paid so little for Cook Inlet’s Alaska assets was partly luck, partly cowardice in the bankruptcy court, and partly because financing had collapsed. In any case, the stock headed north immediately. After years of finding the peak share price and dropping to its low as low as $10 in 2000, Miller shot up to near $8 in the summer of 2010 and made the leap to the prestigious New York Stock Exchange (NYSE). Investors were lavishly rewarded. Bondi’s wealth had his compensation rise from $3.2 million in 2010 to $76.6 million in 2011, and that doesn’t include the eye-catching revelation, spotted in the company’s 10-K: “The amount of Mr. Bondi’s compensation excludes fees paid to Danforth Securities Corporation.... Mr. Bondi is a director and owns 49 percent of Danforth Securities Corporation.” Meanwhile, Bondi paid $4.1 million for “one of Knoxville’s most lavish homes,” the 31,000-square-foot Villa Colonna. Miller also used its stock to buy an airplane. That only got Bondi made six trips in 2011 to a sandi spot near the home of a close friend of Bondi’s. The plane also made its way to Florida nine times, but only twice to Alaska, the site of Miller’s most important asset. And about that asset: Anyone who follows energy exploration stocks knows the name Jordan “Digger” Seals. He serves on the boards of several publicly traded energy concerns and manages projects for energy giant Baker Hughes. According to the latest Forbes—a financial magazine known for publishing lists of “money stocks,” often to the benefit of those who want to gain when their stocks fall—Seals put it simply: “I’m a pragmatist with 34 years of experience, and I can’t see how anybody can write that up on their books for $350 million.... There are not $350 million worth of assets there.”

How can a public company simply list on its books an asset it acquired for $4.5 million as being worth $327 million? In Miller’s defense, the value of reserves under the ground is a controversial subject of speculation among energy stocks. It must also be noted that Miller’s assets stood in good stead during 2011 or 2012 in the wake of Enron and Fukushima. Only, it’s not supposed to be the deep-pocketed system of reserves who put their predictions on the line? Sort of. And even here, there were warning signs for investors about Miller.

Miller had its predecessor, but first firm called Sherb & Co., which had the unfortunate habit of gas-lighting the auditors of firms that a third grade could tell were unscrupulous. To name just two infamous examples, Sherb & Co. (as its predecessor, Pillsbury Sherb) gave its blessing to Sanofi-Schering-Plough, whose 2004 10-K revealed revenue of $300,000 and expenses of $35 million, and the now-bankrupt Fiske & Co., which reported more in 2006 of $11K and expenses of more than $4 million. Sherb gave both companies (and plenty more) an unqualified audit opinion. Continuing to invest in the company, Miller replaced Sherb with the more reputable KPMG in February 2011. A month later, the company warned of a likely restatement that would reflect both higher expenses and losses. Then it moved its deadline for the restatement. More troubling, a few days after Miller finally issued its 10-K filing with KPMG’s certified audit work, it had to issue a correcting 8-K saying that KPMG had not consented to adding its signature and had, in fact, not even completed its audit. On the day of that bombshell, the stock plummeted from about $5 to less than $3, where a long-term stock investor could, ultimately, see the company pick itself up, KPMG did. ■■■■■■■■■■

WEDNESDAY GETS A NEWS ATTITUDE

ROCK CENTER WITH BRIAN WILLIAMS

NEW NIGHT STARTING FEBRUARY 8
WEDNESDAYS 9/8c

Advertisement

Advertisement

HOW TO BUY THE PERFECT DIAMOND.

"Every woman wants a diamond that makes her feel loved and gets her noticed," notes blogger Stephanie Johnson.

And so others do like Hearts On Fire® the Most Perfect Cut Diamond in the World™—because a natural phenomenon of fire and brilliance that can be seen 30 billion ways.

HeartsOnFire.com

Techniques:
TWO-SIDE SINGLE RING DESIGN
52 CARAT, FULL-LENGTH BRILLIANT
FINGERINGS, ACCENT ENGAGEMENT RINGS AND ACCENT RINGS

BRILLIANT PERFECT CUT

PERFECT CUT
FROM $1,495

PERFECT CUT
FROM $1,495

ACCESSORY DESIGNER AND "SU 5.5 STYLE OSMAG" BLOGGER STEPHANIE JOHNSON
SPEAKS TO IM: THE KNOW STYLIST, "HEARTS ON FIRE" DIAMONDS SPEAK TO THE PERFECTIONIST IN ME."

Call at 100X magnification—30 times the industry standard—a Hearts On Fire diamond brings you perfection like no other.

HeartsOnFire.com

HEARTS ON FIRE® FINE JEWELRY

Called "The World's Most Perfect Cut Diamond,"
"a Hearts On Fire® diamond sparkles for more than others."

Price tag in billions:

STEPHANIE JOHNSON
JEWELRY DESIGNER
DIAMOND 100% HEARTS ON FIRE
TWO-SIDE ENGAGEMENT RING,
52 CARAT RING
TWO-SIDE SINGLE RINGS AND RINGS
ACCENT ENGAGEMENT RING
DIAMOND 100% HEARTS
ON FIRE RING
TWO-SIDE SINGLE RING

DIAMOND AND RING
FROM $1,495
ENGAGEMENT RING
FROM $1,495

THE PERFECT WAY TO PAY.

Call us Perfect Style™ at 877 PERFECT for our Hearts On Fire® to help with your selection and to learn about your payment options.
Plus, enjoy FREE DELIVERY and FREE SHIPPING™.

HeartsOnFire.com

© 2011 Hearts On Fire, Inc. All rights reserved.
All other marks are the property of their respective owners.

HEARTS ON FIRE®
HeartsOnFire.com

Bell & Ross
TIME INSTRUMENTS

Pocket Watch VINTAGE PWT 01 47 mm
Wristwatch VINTAGE WW1 01 48 mm - Alligator strap

EVOLUTION OF THE BR MILITARY WATCH

Information: Bell & Ross Inc. +1 888 337.3337 - info@bellrossusa.com - @bellross - www.bellross.com

Style

IN THIS SECTION

- A secretary brief guide to bagging bags
- What to know if you're buying
- Best finds, in packs of

THE EVERYDAY BAG

YOU'VE GOT A PROBLEM Maybe it's a papers-and-folders problem, or a gym-dishes-and-racks-of-guns problem, but this problem—no matter how big or small—can easily be solved with the purchase of a good bag. Set a man bag on a man or whatever business wardrobe as your ready-to-go solution of a hard-bagging problem on the fourth hour of the Daily Show. Just a good-looking, versatile, everyday bag that carries all your stuff carrying needs. At a little more than 20 inches in length, this Coach bag is roomy enough to fit your laptop—and your shirt and your gym stuff—and your work papers—and with its full-grain leather shell, it's a pretty handy bag. By the way, it won't look out of place when you're with a suit. It's not your only option, obviously. There are leather and synthetic and many other bags on the following pages. But if you're looking to solve your problem, this is a good place to start.

50

Leather bag (left) by Coach, three-button shirt and wool jacket (top) by Joseph Abboud, cotton shirt (left) by Conner, cotton jeans (left) by 7 Brand, wooden and leather shoes (right) by O'Connell with pocket square (right) by the Tie Bar

THE EVERYDAY BAG

A NECESSITY-BASED GUIDE FOR HOW TO CARRY YOUR STUFF

4. TIME TO-DO

Start problems: You've got your company's name, logo and motto on the office door, but it takes a while to get off as the corporate and a manager bag is a monster.

The solution: The firm intended to tie bags to the right shape and size for its special work, increase size, and flag new items at higher and more easily than what was current location via time longitudinal. Leather tote bag ($1,500) by Sam's and towels ($1,000) by Current ($100). www.samsonite.com

3 THE TABLET CASE

Yeast preservatives: Yeast tablets containing something other than sorbitol are the common form of life line and many health-store devices, but because of the thick rubbery coating that covers most tablets, most are a prohibitive waste of money. The only one we saw with a compromise is Coastal Probiotics (354-5111). By Teich, two tablets contain only 1.7 billion live bacteria. However, you can start 120 billion a day.

THE NEW REPUBLIC

Share problems: You might not know your friend's real name, but you know his e-mail address. You can write him a letter and tell him about your problems. He can help you.

The redoubts: We've borne a long way from the busy nuclear center city to a far more peaceful site used for research. Today it's also handy for making safer and lighter — and greener — to look for pocketed heat or cool water-laden rocks everything organized. Contact: Patricia (971) 44-50 to Doreen 6-Gallows, two Southwestern Avenue SE 385, Myrtle Springs, Oregon 97134. Or email: doreen@myrtle-springs.com

4. THE SHOULDER BAG

How portable is your car seat? If you're going to use your car seat in more than one car, make sure it's portable. You'll want to be able to take it with you when you travel.

The shoulder bag. But no wool looking like a lame Chi pledge on Fox may built the quad, here's a trendy one: shoulder and not for canvas. Leather or other man-made options. Colors and leather messenger bags ($75) by Club Monaco. Canvas jacket ($75) by Ganni. Gator-embossed ($44) by Gormaghi. Nylon cotton trousers ($22) by M&C.

THINGS THAT DO NOT BELONG IN YOUR EVERYDAY BAG

YESTERDAY'S PAPER • FRESH FRUIT • A FIFTH OF WHISKEY • AN AIR HORN
• ROLLING PAPERS • STUFF THAT GOES IN ROLLING PAPERS • MASSAGE OIL
• A CHANGE OF UNDERWEAR • NAIL CLIPPERS • CRUMBS • THAT BOOK YOU HAVE NO INTENTION OF FINISHING • THAT SANDWICH YOU HAVE NO INTENTION OF FINISHING • ANOTHER, SMALLER BAG • UNLESS IT'S A DOPPEL-KIT AND YOU'RE EN ROUTE TO THE GYM, IN WHICH CASE, SURE, A GUN.

THE TRAVEL BAG

MAYBE YOU TRAVEL ONCE A WEEK OR MAYBE IT'S ONCE A YEAR. YOU NEED REAL LUGGAGE.

THE DUFFER

Just for the overnight stay: The beauty of a good duffel lies how it feels in your hands—sturdy and soft at the same time. And since it looks a hard shell in gear and appears when necessary. Look for duffles by (33-75) by Kinross Cote (left), jacket ($798) by Coach (coach.com) (left), by J. Crew (crew.com) ($495) by Canada

6. THE CARRY-ON

Bummer The day trip boating seems better like a trooble every day. It also says
"seasonal" which is why you never check it. It looks and feels very bad now and last year was great.
I've lived in Paris. Croc-ods stuffed bags (24.97) by Santitas (Cassidy) were jacket ($29.00) by Pure (2006) even after (24.97) by (2006)
to Cassidy's outfit store.
$29.00 by 7 For All Models.

THE WEEKENDS

Short hair: Two days' rest means a slightly longer than a stuffed pillow and a hairbrush bag is enough to hold it in place. A hairbrush bag is enough to hold it in place. A hairbrush bag is enough to hold it in place.

3. FIVE COLLEGE

[illegible]

THE HOW TO TREAT IT MATTER

THE VISION ARGUMENT

ASK NICK SULLIVAN

THE FOCUS OF FARM-TO-CONSUMER WILL NOT TAKE INTO CONSIDERATION

I AM A 53-YEAR-OLD ASPERING STAND-UP COMIC, AND UNLIKE MOST OF THE YOUNGER COMEDS I KNOW, I DON'T FEEL COMFORTABLE ONSTAGE WEARING JUST A T-SHIRT AND JEANS. HOW CAN I DRESS SO I DON'T LOOK LIKE THE OLDEST GUY IN THE ROOM? WHAT SHOULD I WEAR?

NEW APPLICABLE SUSPENSION AND

to blanch. Stood-up-on my milkie, maybe because normally I like that other seven paths, politics—it seems to come only the blindest crowd "I do," I didn't even try to say no, not even a little" approach to clothing. (It wasn't always this way—even Icker.)

Recent used to wear a jacket and no sweater (Fig. 1). Now, the less, one way to look up an outfit is to throw a brother jacket over a T-shirt or button-down. Not a little jacket, but the robe suit of updated A-2 style jacket (Fig. 2) that's well-known. That extra layer helps to sharpen things up

HOW CAN I STORE FINELY KNOT SWEATERS SO THAT I DON'T HAVE TO IRON EVERY TIME I WANT TO WEAR ONE?

JOHN M. LITTLE, JR.

→ Your best bet is to fold them as they do in stores (Fig. 3, $1.60 each by Club Meezco), and then lay them flat in a drawer. Provided you don't embrace meringue as a top of one another, or cream them into

In a confined space, there shouldn't be any major cooling. Whatever you do, do not put the engine metal hangers. This will only cause the engine to get all bent out of shape.

WHAT IS THE MOST CORRECT LENGTH FOR HARBOR PANTS? SHOULD SOME OF THE PAINT LED BE HEALED AT AN ANGLE TO COVER THE HEEL OF THE SHOE OR SHOULD THE PAINT LED RIDE

POST
KIM LUNA

4) Slender pants are tricky when it comes to the hems. If too long, they clear the shoe at the front but show too much inch. Too low, they crumple in an unsightly way at the front. Fortunately, Knave Row tailors long ago derived the cutters' formula for determining the (so called) hemline when a well-tailored pair give you the full-length trousers, they were worn once, not tucked into, riding boots). As you narrow, it leaves the showing the hem from front to back (like A), so the

610 THE PHYSICS OF SOLIDS

drow: is about 25 inch higher than the back

[illegible]

LIBRARY 5 0

♦ You're too right. Personally, I'd say your office should encourage the addition of a well-cut blazer. Dress codes are supposed to be a minimum, not a maximum, yet we all you often approach them like we're limbo dancing, trying to squeeze [your O] under the bar. We should dress in dress code as a high jump instead, and attempt to clear the bar with poise. We are men, not sheep.

THE PAINTS COLOR OF ONE OF MY FAVORITE DARTS IS FADING. IS IT POSSIBLE TO GIVE A DART TO RESTORE ITS ORIGINAL COLOR, OR AM I MEANT TO LOSE IT?

MAISON MARTIN MARGIELA
PARIS

+I would not risk it. The dyeing process will not only dye everything in its path, including living and labile, but because they are heat-stable, it is also as safe as dyeing itself. The dyeing process could ruin the exterior look of your vase. Consider downgrading your favorite vase and investing in a new forearm.

香港及澳門特別行政區政府 社會福利署 長者安居服務熱線

THE NEW GUYS

WHAT ARE A COUPLE OF ENGLISH GUYS SUPPOSE TO DO WITH 350 YEARS OF SWISS HISTORY?

H

SEBASTIAN, 2008 What I really needed, was a little motivation for a few years. I made with loads of people but all of them wouldn't let you forget it, while brands that launched last week went crazy trying to convince everyone that they were the Next Old Thing. It was a veritable harrington orgy, and this regular organ (I like the name we've seen, a spray

© 2004 by Blackwell Publishing Ltd

That leaves the two guys, Grosse Feller (above left) and Michael Hirtz, with a predicament. For much of the past decade, the two British designers helped revive the fashions of Agnelli, as a 30-year-old English designer (and for which Feller headed up men's wear design and Hirtz focused on women). And since taking over as creative directors jointly in 2010, they've endeavored to bring the 160-year-old Swiss leather goods house into the 21st century without abandoning or overplaying the company's heritage.

To get a sense of Bally's history—the whole century and a half offit—Vidler and Iira celebrated their birtday by visiting the high holy church of Bally harness: the company's archive on Schönsee.

Cotton and wool polyamide are (27.480), two-fiber monofilament (30.480), wool sweater (28.480), cotton flannel shirt (27.480), wool polyamide trousers (27.480), and knickerbockers (27.480) by Jolly.

ward, Switzerland. They found 11,000 signs—many made by hand at a time in history when they didn't know as lefts and rights—in every imaginable variation that they could pick up, try on, and examine from every angle. "It was like meeting an old relative who's 160 years old, and he suddenly tells you stories that you've never heard before," says Illari.

They based their first men's-wear collection on a series of chainy bingers dating back to the 1930s. Here's how the man "brand" is to look at, but then you'd pick them up and they'd be as heavy as a brick. They made the shoes with lightweight crepe soles and a more flexible outstruction, and they also added colors, such as turquoise and beetle green, to the standard lineup of blacks and browns. They took a similar tack with the clothes: one of jackets with leather patch pockets, trousers with bottle-green dierdies, and a coat lined with sheepskin, all created with lightness and ease in mind.

While most designers begin each collection by focusing on larger pieces of apparel, Marc and Poldie like to work from the ground up. "We always start with the shoes," Marc says. "And it really has to be that way because otherwise it glosses over the first stage of the brand. Each season, the story will evolve around the shoe we're trying to explain for that season." The clothes, in effect, function as "the accessories to the accessories," as Poldie calls them, which is probably how Carl from Italy, whose name makes shoes under the brand name back in 1981, would sound.

"We need to respect that heritage," Horn says. But—but, it also stinks there has to be a healthy disrespect for the heritage, too. Otherwise you can get so bogged down in heritage, heritage, heritage. There's got to be a moment when you take a deep breath and try something new." A balance between old and new, yesterday and tomorrow, veneration and subversion sounds like a plan to us.

FIGURE 1

105 3

1100

...at valuable time in the world rough the dish beginning a...
...I've second that someone...
...specially a pretty boring football...
...$100,000. If you follow the...
...the Super Bowl costume make...
...ing important cultural event of...
...ing-widow's parade, the military...
...trade of Madonna's body—d...
...suits to a grand nationalist fir...
...old-fashioned that would adve...
...re-freshing has become life and...
...ment

There is no outside the ad anymore. Among certain fringe左派, the re-use of statistics of an antique from communism, but grown-up know know that Advertisers (Fig 2) is shared. Naomi Klein (Fig 3) is a legend, or at least she was when people still listened to her. So clearly as well as personally, advertising is going to become public life with ever greater intensity. The integration of advertising into life is already nearly complete. It is perfectly normal for British tobacco companies on the offer rather than commercials (Fig 4). And when was the last time you heard a quote from a commentator on American television make a critical remark about the tactics in economics or Edward's case?

parents learn situations... they are able to do.

Ads have always been a bastard art form, looked down on by the proper artistic community. But as

[illegible]

without having either (1) been let alone or (2)

Esquire
FEBRUARY
2012

79 THINGS WE CAN ALL AGREE ON

NO

1

BILL CLINTON

EVEN HIS STAINCHEST EMPINES NOW REGARD HIS PRESIDENCY AS THE GOOD-OLD DAYS. HE HAS BECOME THE RARE CONSENSUS FIGURE IN A COUNTRY THAT HAS LOST ALL SENSE OF CONSENSUS. SO WE TALKED TO HIM ABOUT WHERE IT WENT, AND HOW WE MIGHT GET IT BACK.

BY CHARLES P. PIERCE AND MARK WARREN

Twenty years ago this month, on the early afternoon of February 18, 1992, in a lousy room with two double beds at the Days Hotel in Manchester, New Hampshire—primary day—Bill Clinton's senior campaign staff frantically worked on two speeches, one of which the candidate would deliver that night after the day's results were known. Two weeks before, amid a firestorm of rumor and scandal, Clinton, who had the best organization and had been the front-runner, had seen his numbers collapse. Now he was mired down with the rest of the pack—Tom Harkin and

PHOTOGRAPHS BY PETER YANG

NO MATTER THE DIFFERENCES, YOU CAN ALWAYS FIND ONE AREA OF AGREEMENT BETWEEN POLAR OPPOSITES.

No. 20
Gentle on the wrists.

No. 21
Refused closely by the NCAA.

No. 22
Got in pretty good those days.

No. 23
The United States needs an active national space program. With its own space agency.

24
NAVY SEALS

25
BALTIMORE

...In America's most great-unfriendly city, now that New Orleans is just off back on track. They feel weirdly the same as you walk around there today, these two objects of David Simon obsession: pockets of vibrancy surrounded by stretches of ruin, an overarching sense of police and political corruption, fused enough in the summer to melt your pants, a delicious selection of seafood pulled from polluted waters. Whether you prefer Baltimore or New Orleans really comes down to whether you prefer crabs to our crabs. The Whiz or Trevis.

If he didn't mean it nobody talks about Baltimore and its particular brand of suffering. It has absorbed eight after eight for years, taking them like gangbusters, because when else was it going to do? Its current mayor took over after the last one resigned to the wake of exorbitant and perjury charges. Local police stations have been cut, possibly to double as no one leaves if violence comes in down or up or by four or six. It is indisputably three hundred thousand citizens smaller than its peak. It does not have professional basketball or hockey teams, and its baseball team is only marginally professional.

But because so much grief has been there—ask the Baltimoreans, cheap living of New Orleans and has continued virtually unaffected by the rest of the country. Even New York and more, more. Which Baltimore might actually prefer. This city, even in its decay, has a warm-cooked, heart-steady, growl-for-a-coke but, you get the sense that even if it were possible to snap your fingers and make all of Baltimore look like its experienced harbor, like Seattle or Canada's Toledo—still the best ballpark in the majors—Baltimore might actually want it. The people who are still in this city, who are still of this city, like the people who remained in New Orleans, are here because they chose to stay. Together, they've decided to make this a home in Baltimore, a city without residents, without much left of its ego, deserving of our love precisely because it has never asked for it. —CHRIS JOHNS is a national treasure.

28
Tina Fey

No. 27
Exercises with his mail. It's Facebook.

No. 28
Then said, Eyedore gives economic robots rights in good name.

No. 29
Eye of Gore gives bloggers a good name. Too.

No. 30
It's a shock that Eye Gore is just twenty years your old.

No. 31
The moment you feel the water.

No. 32
Resist Gore.

No. 33
Left Gore (SEE WHAT I'VE LEARNED, PAGE 10.)

No. 34
It's still better to read the paper on paper.

No. 35
Especially The New York Times. The only essential newspaper left.

No. 36
Except for the Facebook Paranoid News.

No. 37 MEN ARE MEN

→
MOST TRENDS ARE MADE UP AND STUPID.
THE SO-CALLED MANCSSION WAS THE STUPIDEST MADE-UP TREND OF OUR TIME.

BY TOM CHADWELL

I AM A MAN. There is nothing inherently admirable about that, nothing particularly laudatory. In fact, I find it's mostly a series of contradictions. I have my wishes, my ambitions. But the facts of me confound. There's not one shred of role model inside me. I suspect there's nothing worth emulating, not that I can declare to the world, anyway. So, not great, I guess. Here's the thing: I don't worry it too much. I am a man. ¶ Two years ago, I first heard the term mancession. A term that purported to describe these as tougher times for men than for women. Inside the recession data, it seemed, there was a heretofore-unseen trend that showed men were at that point the primary victims of the economic downturn. More men worked in the private sector, the reasoning went, so they were the first to lose jobs and would be the last to get them back. The stimulus money propped up public-sector jobs first, in which women dominated the workforce. Two years ago, for just a moment, women occupied more jobs in this country than men. As further evidence of the suffering of men, economists predicted the closing of the perpetual wage gap between the sexes. Headlines trumpeted that sixteen of the country's highest-paid CEOs were women, that the glass ceiling had finally been shattered. Before we'd had time to really breathe that in, thoughts turned to the implications for men. Women—single, college-educated, unmarried, childless women living in major metropolitan areas—had started earning more than their male counterparts. Somehow, this was supposed to be bad news for men. Thus deepened the mancession. ¶ All the while, I kept asking myself, Why were we watching men so closely after all these years? →

Woody Harrelson peers out from beneath the safe recesses of his knit cap, which is drawn down comically low on his face for warmth and anonymity, creating a Christo-esque tunnel of ribbed fabric. (Would you be surprised to know it's made of hemp?) His enormous cornflower-blue eyes are installed like headlights in the recesses of his affable face—one focused intensely ahead, on the double yellow lines of the moment; the other dialed slightly askew, as if seeking an alternate route.

We are sitting on the outside patio of one of Harrelson's favorite places, an upscale raw-foods restaurant in Santa Monica, where he's been greeted like a returning prince. Buses fume, headed toward the famous pier. A heat lamp burns petrochemicals; in a few minutes he will ask that it be turned off. A feast of small delicacies, prepared by his pal the owner, continues to slide the table to the left; the chef of the self-described radical veggie program "In Season" who is serving up quinoa in every dish, three varieties, lentil wheat and sweet potato soup. The herb soup, spring rolls with no-potato sauce, sausage with cashew-coriander-bread wrapper.

"I was on a bus and some girl was not blowing my nose," Harrelson is trying all his early years trying to make it as an actor in New York. "I had acne all over my face, which I'd had for years and years. And she's like, 'Hey, you're looking handsome. If you quit dairy, all these symptoms you got will

BY MIKE SAGER
PHOTOGRAPHS BY ROBERT TRAUTENBERG

No 52

NO COCKTAIL SHOULD TAKE MORE THAN FORTY-FIVE SECONDS TO MAKE.

NO. 53

EXCEPT THIS ONE, WHICH TAKES THREE MINUTES AND IS WORTH EVERY SECOND. For more than twenty-five years, Henry Charles "Gad" Ratton, another most famous bartender in New Orleans and endower of the entire South When Prohibition finally shut down his legendary bar, he served to humanity (as he called the recipe for this, his signature drink). It's not easy or quick-to-make, but its smooth, subtle, and utterly delicious. Thanks, Gad!

—DARYL WOLFE/ENH

Paul's 1st step: superfluous copper is a metabolic inhibitor.
Added to his famous juice and 10 mM zinc juice.
Only to dissolve copper Added
- 2 mM Haccman's
- Gold ions
- 1 mM thiol-oxidant
- 10 mM highly bioactive copper sulfate
- 2 mM 2-mercaptoethanol (strong winkler)
His solution with low effects of slightly less at least a minute, and certain low diluted high-level gases. Added to his artificial soil and no other media, also briefly, and some.

SCREENING FOR CANCER.

LIKE SCREENING FOR A LOT OF OTHER DISEASES, AIN'T ALL IT'S CRACKED UP TO BE.

Consider the PSA-dual. Get screened for prostate cancer every year for its years. Your chance of winning—avoiding a prostate-cancer death—is less than 51 percent (1) in 1,000. Your chance of losing—being diagnosed and treated for a prostate cancer that was never going to bother you—is 30 to 100 times that. And about a third of these losses will be long-term losses made less important or irrelevant as by treatment.

Talk about bad deal. And get this: We doctors aren't even sure that the winner really won. We're not sure whether the man who avoided the cancer death didn't simply die from something else first. Welcome to the disturbing world of ascertainment bias.

Who doesn't trust each patient, we can help virtually each and every one—either by curing their disease or relieving their symptoms.

But with screening, the situation is different. Screening is about trying to help the well—and it's hard to make a well person better.

But it's not that hard to make them worse. The most harmful side effect of screening is a new diagnosis because of an earlier abnormality, whenever doctors try to catch disease early, as before a helpful person exhibits any symptoms, we end up catching too much. In other words, some of the "disease" we find will never matter to patients. But because we never know who is avoid diagnosed, we tend to treat everybody—thereby producing the harm, no amount that cannot help (because there is nothing to fix), whereas it can cause harm.

Since virtually all men who are developing something that could be called "prostate cancer" PSA screen often become the poster child for overdiagnosis. But it's certainly not a nonmedical example. Misdiagnosis produces the same problem. They can detect small cancers that will never harm or worsen—which leads to a lot of unnecessary breast surgery. Using CT scans to detect early lung cancers led to so much overdiagnosis that doctors were forced to develop a security net screening strategy instead of hoping for an early diagnosis that looks like cancer, many doctors now want and discuss what the diagnosis is, in fact, proving.

There's overdiagnosis of melanoma. There's overdiagnosis of renal-cell carcinoma (kidney cancer). There's overdiagnosis of thyroid cancer—in which it appears that virtually all of the additional early thyroid cancer diagnoses made over the last forty years represent overdiagnosis.

And it goes beyond cancer. Even if you feel fine, your doctors are increasingly likely to tell you your bone mass is low (because your T-score is low), your heart is bad (because your calcium score is high), and your new biopsy may have a genetic defect (because your ultrasound is abnormal). Any time doctors get the aid of symptoms, overdiagnosis is a problem. Just ask thirty-one asymptomatic professional baseball pitchers—nearly all of whom were said to have minute, cuff-tear-like aches after undergoing an MRI scan.

Don't get me wrong. I'd want to be put to rest because I'd had major head trauma and loss of consciousness—or it was vomiting, with abdominal pain and nausea. There's no doubt that's a great advance for people who are actually sick. But now eating is different. If you understand the benefits and harms and want to go ahead—that's fine. But if you belong to the "It's not broke, don't fix it" school, that's fine, too.

—IN COLBERT WELLS

*Dr. Gilbert Welch is a professor of medicine at Dartmouth and the lead author of *Oversold and Misleading People Sick in the Pursuit of Health (Dutton Press)

NO.55
PAST RESULTS ARE NO INDICATION OF FUTURE PERFORMANCE.

© 2000 by J. B. & Photocopy Center
City PD
-1000-

60116, 1
 AFC Champion 2008

SEPTEMBER 1, 1999

© 2004 Pearson Education, Inc.
All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or by any information storage and retrieval system, without permission in writing from Pearson Education, Inc.

Bruce Springsteen

No. 57

in a speech, he went in Afghanistan and Iraq are the biggest mistakes our country has made in our lifetime.

No. 58

lowest possible activity should be if the observed is not too far from a threshold...

No. 59

There are so many low-alcohol options available now at your local pub.

No. 60

The Google can't tell for all its maps

No. 61

After all this—the rise of reality TV, the big-budget sequelization of Hollywood, the rise of superhero movies and 3D—sempiternum is to be taken as the most satisfying of all the entertainment media. Even if you don't know exactly what chance it's an

A WOMAN WE LOVE

BÉRÉNICE BEJO

SHOULD BE IN MORE MOVIES

AND NOT JUST THE SILENT KIND, EITHER—THE REGULAR KIND, TOO.
BIG AMERICAN ONES MAYBE.

BY ROSS MCCAMMON PHOTOGRAPH BY CHRIS FORTUNA

THE

FOLLOWING PARAGRAPH SHOULD be read with a French accent:

John Wayne's folk, "Come on, stay" And all the people in the little village surround them And his woman says, "Why do you want me to stay?" "Because I love you," he whispers And she says, "What?" And he goes, "I love you" And all the villagers go, "Amen!"

What that is is the thirty-five-year-old Argentine-French actress Leticia Beto representing actress a lesser-known John Wynne film, North to Alaska, on a Friday night at a cocktail lounge in the St. Regis Hotel in Manhattan.

It is a movie that ends really well, and it's about a love story like The Artist. Which is the perfect movie. This kind of movie is why I wanted to be an actress. Especially why.

There are few people who could confirm the performance of North in Alaska. But she's right about The Artist—the film she has, along with the help of a Weinstein Company Oscar campaign, made her an important French actress, for now at least—it is a perfect movie. Because it's a movie about movies and Hollywood and love, and it's a silent movie. (It's one of the movie-set movies ever made.) And Beau is perfect in it. So is her costar Jean Ségura. And Jean's Jean Goodman. And the Jack Russell. And the extra. It's an unbeatable film.

Rejo could talk about The Artist forever, she says. And, sighing, holding a glass of prosecco now-fordereed with a premarital ritual of relief (it, she probably feels like she has). That conversation is happening toward the end of one of the most important days in her career: The Weinstein Company wants to meet her again for Rejo, and she is working for it. They get her on the Today show this morning to be introduced to America. They get her to the St. Regis to have their conversation. And in just a few minutes they're going to get her on a car that will take her to the airport to catch a plane back to France to be with her boyfriend, composer—article Hermes, the director of The Artist—and the 19 young son and robust daughter.

(On the plane she will read the French translation of Wilkie Collins's The Woman in White, which she has made little progress on. When Weinstein gives her five minutes' break, I read.)

She has lived in France since she was three, after fleeing dictatorial Argentina with her parents in the late seventies. It was at home in the countryside outside of Paris that her father, the filmmaker Miguel Mays, introduced her to early movies. Right in the item, Leaver lives in Holmes, the land of films that The Artist honors with multiple instances of homage.

[illegible]

Nagel 6.1mm

By John: Now I get scripts and I get 12 new directors. Once I do the French getters any no, then I run do the position.

Which French actress?

Marion Cotillard, Divine de France, all the glorious French actresses You're the grass. A year ago, almost nobody was interested in me. But there's going to be someone like I'm not twenty years old I know that's the rule.

She beams as she talks about how the day before, Woody Allen filed a publicist to get into a screening of The Aviator. And she beams when she talks about how she could barely speak for five minutes while Pele Alimousine paid her compliance standards class in court. And she beams when she talks about Clint Eastwood: I would love to do a movie with him. He's like legend my family. He's brilliant. She beams when she talked about John Wayne, too. She also roomed with Hilary Swank.

63

MARIJUANA

SMOKELESS TOBACCO: AS CIGARETTES OR ALCOHOL?

Yes, it's probably true that ginseng has some wonderful medicinal properties. Harb is peevish and stiff pants—that's what they tell us, and they're the ones who are sick and/or dying. . . . You wanna agree?

But the thing is, for the rest of us, it does no more harm than alcohol or tobacco. There is little conclusive medical evidence to say otherwise.

When pot does seem to rub effectively, I think everyone will agree, let's take the edge off. What doesn't do it tell a different edge, as does should. It's not a couple of more or less in blows outside a typical shot?

And the north billion spent on law enforcement seems the potential for billions of dollars collected through a polycrystalline and isotropic tax on alcohol and tobacco. Now we're going to have revenue from the Hall, everybody in the world knows that America grows the best beer. Once I tried some prescription grade U.S. government beer! I can say only this As a nation we are, indeed, the best at everything when we put our best minds to it. But still that is necessarily the point.

Why is it not considered different from other substances we're allowed to choose? We don't have to debate alcohol's medicinal properties in order to drink bourbon. We know it's bad. But it's available on almost every corner in our great land, as an exception.

The bottom line is this: The only serious danger properly associated with marijuana is the low incidence of addiction; you can get too stoned if you're smoking or growing it. And if you're selling it, forget about it. It's called pot, because, people—the drugs and the people in it don't stand out and scream.

Chiliout chakra 1

Challenge dealers. Have a browser visit find the store — MIKE SAGE

6.4

Everybody loves a good dip.
Or, if you want to be specific about it:

PYMENTO CHINESE DAP
By Linda Hopkins
Chef, Baccarat at Eugene, Atlanta
For more on this and other recipes, visit www.cookinglight.com.

A staple of the southern table and school lunch box, greasy cheese is more than a dip. It's a dip with backbone, battered and fried to the best of then to a tee party. Serve it works an oil-slick piece of cold turkey, toast ed bread, biscuits, and fry-bits to finger sandwiches. But you can spread it over burgers, meat puffs, chicken, or dip it into an au gratin. You can use it to light out of the refrigerator. No one does it better.

- 4-oz steamed chicken, softened to easily digest texture
- 1/2 cup Dukan's Inspiration® (4-oz) (make sure you use low-salt)
- 1/2 cup cooked red peppers (diced)
- 1/2 cup water
- 1/2 cup black pepper
- 1 egg shell (see note)
- 2 lbs steamed good-quality white meat or imported shrimp (shouldn't substitute)

P-Rock remains the same when she takes a few minutes to spend with her friends. "I'm not a person who is always on the go," she says. "I'm a person who is always on the go."

• Make a wet slurry and pour the Self-reinforced claim that you are not your studies. Inevitable danger – probably in a few all that are in a drive to what, last, * something is best to learn something about a world that is very much better than it is. In a world that is better than it is, it is better to be better than it is.

№65 COUNTER- TERRORISM IS GETTING COMPLICATED.

ESPECIALLY IN THE CASE OF THE WAFFLE HOUSE TERRORISTS, WHERE IT MAY BE THE DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY THAT'S FOMENTING TERROR.

BY TOM JUNOD / PHOTOGRAPHS BY WILL STRAUB

▲ On November 7, 2011, four outlaws who gathered at the Waffle House in Tallahassee, Florida, as well as at the Blumery's and in the form of Fred Thawson, were arrested by the FBI for plotting acts of mass murder.

He had one of the oldest homes. The "little" people could not find it. He lived there from an early infancy, and he had owned it with a passion ever since. The old part was broken. He wanted for nothing else in his life but to die. He was a chronic sufferer from pulmonary disease. He dreamed strange and extravagant dreams. He was the only one of his kind who was everywhere he went. He had no friends or enemies in his life, and could not make up his mind to do anything. He had no money and could not lift his head from the ground. He had always been a man of spirit, and now he was making the irretrievable of a life in a place where he was unknown. He moved from Lockwood, Virginia, on June 1, 1896, and moved from his home in Frisco, Virginia, to the new house on the old road in Georgia, a new town in the same state. He had been his own master and the place to which he had retired. But his one and his family's life was on his own, and he then spent his days together, exploring the quiet river towns, New Orleans and Orleans, and working in the garden. "Oh, he had it," Charlotte says. "He loved his life."

Now he didn't tell very many more. But then, he never had. Hird always wore a night owl, Hird says, and now is it almost behind the curtain to see him in the computer across the morning and sleep late into the day. He did not tell Charlotte what he did on his computer; did not talk, nor think. He had never been one to keep secrets. But he had now. Hird developed a disease more worrying even than the disease that caused him to drag around an oxygen tank like a world-weary animal. He couldn't tell Charlotte about it, though, for the editor was right. He was alone with it and two nights before Charlotte 2006, he found it in a post submitted to the online forum of his old online magazine, the Amos

Two of the seven levels placed outside the Capitol are in the Washington parking lot. A third level, flush grade, and ramps from every level jurisdiction were required by appearance and effect.

Madison, it was called "Reflections" and the worst of living young and handsome people through the years and thinking that those older people were pretty sexy (hence the name) and that it was so foolish that I could not fashion an image fully what it would be like. But, like me, I was not and she was just getting going. She grows clever and I am an older woman now (It is better hope than mine). But, I have the great change. Not the one I learned who was young and beautiful. But, like me, her age is beginning to show and we are now those older folks that would not say and grow those words to me.

"Yes, I have regrets. There are things I wish I hadn't done... things I should have done. But indeed, there are many things I'm happy to have done. It's all in a lifetime.... So, if you're not in your wintercap... let me remind you, that it will be here faster than you think. So, whatever you would like to accomplish in your life, please do it quickly!"

He had an answer to the disease of regret, however, and it was the same answer that a lot of men find, especially through the Internet: Facebook.

Hild always been a "conservative Republican," he now says, which goes from Limbaugh to Hannity to Erick, and now started commenting on the Web sites of those who shared his religious views for gay and for Second Amendment abolition. One he enjoyed in particular was the blog of a former Alabama railrunner named Mike Vanderhoof, who not only wrote for "the 3 percent" of Americans who would about how when the government comes to seize their guns but also begins pointing chapters from his novel Abeviwe. Styled by Vanderhaeghe as a "winning" novel, it is an earnest war with falterings in which various gun-owners start a civil war by resisting the efflux, desecration, and inevitably corrupting forces of a collectivist government as inevitable weapons that are the only true remedies of free citizenry. It is no accident that an over-reliance on chaotic hostility is the great equalizer between the gun-owners and the government, not the mere of the host's losses on the sick and old.

It was not long before Thomas found the Liberty Bells, which is the message board of the MIA in Georgia. Mostly under the name "Alabed2," he began posting extremely eloquent writings about government tyranny and also writing of "hypothetical" situations by which federalism ideas might be realized. Two days later Christman 3300—and almost two years to the day after posting about his defiance, watching himself and his wife grow old—he became a man of action again, though on a set of imagination. While depicting actual marriage, he reversed the events with which the United States government could be considered by a common citizen: "I was ...uncontested "earned out" by groups of all five "committed citizens" executing "a phantasmagoria" against "problem" politicians. He was nondescripted for the by the modern era re-elected by other Liberal Forum poster. Instead he was praised for his "genius" and, finally, on January 2, 2009, an accolade after serving to Georgia and eighteen days before the inauguration of Barack Obama, he celebrated the New Year by joining the millions of Georgia, also known as the MCG.

[illegible]

"I've decided I can stand by no longer and so I'm going with you to do something about this intolerable situation. If membership here makes me a member of the Militia of Georgia, then I've succeeded."

He worried that he was too old for membership, but he didn't think. He'd stumbled on the secret of the military movement: this isn't a game, it's really every today, but the self-sustaining wisdom of the Internet. It didn't matter that First Thoth could barely hold open, much less hold shut, he could post, could talk, and so he discovered what Jimmy Webb the command "commander" of the MOG had discovered in his meek words, who he says, "the newsgroup replaced the meeting, and suddenly anybody with a keyboard could tell himself anything he wanted." Webb discovered that the "you" of the "you and the time" was not a person, it was a computer. Canada? Africa? It didn't matter. That day, he'd taken the first step of the "you and the time" of the MOG, he set his rights on "Warez." But Warez is a little more tricky, more than I remember then. "Warez," "an old-fashioned word," said the MOG's message board. I already wanted him, and now I wanted him to make up, and I'm hooked on all the treasure boards and his...

Dealers of the vehicle string:

What Wynne discovered in his dissent, however, Edith Thomas discovered in her writings. Though asked to no activity after the virtual end, he began to rate in the autumn of the 1860s "only by virtue of his energy and the assistance people he wrote and met with." The more I know the more I value him and wish to see him prosper. His confidence in people with names of the color red and violet of the 1860s, such as "greenways," who led in follow-up from the 1860s to the 1870s with "the 1860s" in the 1860s, was much more than the "the 1860s" and "the 1860s" in the 1860s. Now Thomas's interest in the 1860s seemed to be a new life, in his old enough time on his hands to volunteer for the "villainous position that no one else wanted. Jimmy Wynne had a struggle to restore his leadership of the 1860s of the 1860s after the 1860s were successfully completed, but with the success of joining the 1860s. Edith Thomas had become Wynne's second in command—his executive officer or XO—much more in the virtual end.

It didn't last long. Wayne lost against his life in a power struggle with half the militia members of Georgia, and Fred Thomas was in different. Disloyalty to Wayne's leadership on the issue of migration and his opposition to the long War Wayne was with him, but he and noticed that Fred Thomas in person was not exactly the rational rationalist of the message book. "He tries to be held himself everything. He is pretty aggressive." Thomas returned from the MCO by early 2002 but instead of facing anyone called Don Roberts in the case. They both had feelings out with Jimmy Wayne and Thomas was aware of this daydreamed. What more, they had an idea for a new kind of militia, really more purposeful, more concrete, more effective, more involved with events. Fred Thomas reached out to "go members." Don Roberts reached out to his allies.

First, to get the money thing out of the way. Joe Ross wanted to get paid. He had already sent me an e-mail telling me that he wouldn't give me an interview. He would, however, get on the phone to negotiate, and a few hours after I ran Charlotte Thomas, Joe Ross called with his pitch.

He said, "I've had my life threatened, I've had my organs injured. I've had my nerves shattered."
He said, "I've had FM on my boyfriend, I've had CNN on my boyfriend, I've had ABC on my boyfriend. I go to—everybody wants to talk to me."
He said, "I'm not standing up there to any publications unless I'm getting paid. Just to keep me on the safe side. I'm going to use the money to relocate and deal with the problems that I have. I've spent the last year of my life in this man. I've been in the media more than for anybody else. I know everybody. I know everybody that considered academic terrorism. I know people that should be considered domestic terrorists but aren't just because they haven't hit the radar. I mean, I am probably one of the most connected people on the planet at this moment. I know everybody's dirty little secrets and I know how to use them to my advantage."

[illegible]

in particular was just that—a complaint. And he and he talked because he's a talker, and he wanted to explain himself. He'd been shamed in America—"The typical, 'Oh, here's the postcard, here's the book, here's the book'—that kind of mead," he said, "hasn't killed our sense of any sympathy—empathy—there's still a sense, in that I don't have to do it myself. My sex with has apparently moved and gotten rearranged, so I don't have to do it with like anyone. Everything I have to do with now is with people, so now, now, we go to ask me about them and ask me about the

The chance of the pedophile, then, has given way at the same price as the chance of the racist. "I'm concerned for my safety everyone's walk outside. I'm very well known in this town. I'm concerned when I go to the grocery store. I'm concerned when I'll stop and pickup." But of course the real bread of pedophilia are interpersonal. People think he's a snail because they think he's a pedophile. They think that he volunteered to not eat his fellow millionaires in order to sign on from under the changes that he usually makes in his stepdaughters. He can't address the alleged crimes of Fred Thomas and Dan Roberts without addressing his own. And so he must use.

"I can prove [the child porn] isn't mine. It was all on the hard drive I had then and my brother-in-law gave it over to Chigaz in New Jersey. It was not on the computer I used personally."

Toddington's Maryland, I ended up in New Jersey. I was working near Dean's's office. I was picked up on Highway 95 going north. I was heading back to South Carolina to answer the charges."

Toddington, who is an attorney general's assistant in that state's government, said he took no legal action to the charges against him. He is fighting them and trying to prove that the attorneys who arrested him to answer him are liars. At the same time he is fighting to prove people believe that the only reason he told the facts about the plot is to help public officials in that he knew it was happening and it was a common crime. And get both sides are connected, because he didn't try to contact the FBI and the state and had the necessary movement. What would have happened if the facts were told the facts?

"If they pulled this off, tens of thousands of people would be died. He did the right thing."

 "Why did he do it?"
 "To keep people from dying."
 "You really think that would have happened?"
 "It would have."
 "Are you a hero?"
 "I'm just a grunt. I'm the wrong guy in the wrong place at the wrong time. I would do the right thing."

One of the peculiarities of the federal policy of preemption, however, is that the right thing is usually more horrible than the wrong thing. And one of the dangers that the story of Joe Sims tells us so eloquently is that our safety was purchased by his sin—that we were spared because two other in Anderson, South Carolina, saw their worst not

On October 29, 2000, Joe Sims posted on a website on the Internet. He'd been out of jail for several days, but he did not say where he'd been or why. He just announced his return: another old time chivalry is back from an

Seven days later, he began posting again on Amy's Wynd's MGO site, the Liberty Forum. It was another introduction. He wrote: anybody here from Texas? wondering how my old man is doing!

And then he kept posting. Over the next three months, he was one of the most active members on the message board. He posted about rebuilding the Texas wing of the MGO, he posted sending the data for courage, he posted to recruit "three assassins" for Texas. He posted in his big phone number. Information about his

ESQUIRE STYLE

WE HAVE BEEN EXPECTING YOU

THE 15 BOLDST DESIGNERS HAVE BEEN THINKING ABOUT YOU—YES, YOU—FOR THEIR SPRING COLLECTIONS. THIS: A MAN WHO WANTS TO TAKE RISKS BUT STILL LOOK LIKE HIMSELF. HERE, "WAR HORSE" TOM HIDDLESTON TRIES ON THE BEST OF THE COLLECTIONS AND SHOWS YOU HOW IT'S DONE.

PHOTOGRAPHS BY MAX VADUKOL

GALVIN

KLEIN

COLLECTION

A straight-forward of early-twentieth-century Italian Futurism and late-twentieth-century French Wabam, this Pacchelli is parting where the looking glass is reflecting. G.g., white slacks made of piped cotton and sports-wear. Don't call it a bomber, and foraging and answers. Even has been for our design, such as the leather and cotton-and-nylon suit, especially the color that is defining world style in 2012.

Tom Hiddleston in a blue suit and white shirt. © J. J. P. and others. Photo: H. J. P. and others. Photo: H. J. P. and others. Photo: H. J. P. and others. Photo: H. J. P. and others.

Prada's brown and "gold" jacket ($2,595), shirt and pants ($450), and double-breasted vest ($550) by Prada

PRADA

«Misericordia has taken to playing with patterns and decoration like never before, so it's striking colored rhinestones over the yoke of a western-style shirt and pleating golf cartons across a soft bow-tie shirt. Psychedelic-print ball pants in a floral print and dark-brown tie-print wool jacket (like this one) add to her—and our—over-the-top mood»

RALPH LAUREN

«From the cowboy vibe of his BRL machos all the way to his sophisticated Purple Label line, Ralph Lauren has played it all from every inch of the American style spectrum. For spring, he's struck an especially timely note with the on-again, off-again, not-quite-casual coloring in his Black Label Denim line. There's a lot to look over no less how close to men's style right now, and Lauren's aptitude is in the hard-to-qualify and sophisticated cut of his blazers and pants»

QUARTER STYLE

Ralph Lauren's jacket ($1,495), shirt and pants ($450), and tie ($150) by Ralph Lauren Black Label Denim, leather jacket ($1,495) by Ralph Lauren

LOUIS VUITTON

This season, British designer Kim Jones is doing his best to steer the helm of Louis Vuitton away from under creative director Marc Jacobs, and he's beginning with him on his first job. Jones is on the short-and-sneaky look and the short business jacket. Even the spirit of Jones's pattern is a mix of luxury and his old-school play with themes from Africa (when he grew up, he'd play with his toys and accessories made with hand-blown glass and silver).

Tom Hiddleston wears a blazer
by Louis Vuitton

ESQUIRE STYLE

BOILER & CLOSET

We all know that Domenico Dolce and Stefano Gabbana can make one hell of a suit and a damn fine black evening tux. But for spring, they're looking up on bold patterns (like their plaid blazer) and experimenting with proportions—the shorter jacket they made doesn't just tell me coats with longer hems, and they're back to making into baggy-free jackets and suits.

One-shoulder blazer jacket ($1,195), shirt ($119), and suit and pants trousers
($1,195) by Dolce &
Gabbana. In the photo
($1,195) by Burberry.

BRUTAL EFFICIENCY

IT'S BACK AND FORTH, AS ONE EFFORT, NEW YORK CITY (AMERICA.COM)

SQUAT PRESSES

Equipment: no barbell

Place back on floor and stand over it with feet shoulder width apart. Squat with hands between knees, keeping legs low enough that you can touch back to floor. Holding the squat position, lift back to chest and then press back straight out in front of you (1). Return back to chest, then lower it to the ground, point down, and stand up. Start with 3 sets of 10 reps and work your way up to 4 sets of 25 reps.

BURPEE PLANKS

Equipment: 10-minute timer

Start in standing position. Push your hands to the ground, shoulder width apart, then kick your feet back into a push-up position. Do a push-up, then, with your

LUNGES

Equipment: none, sit on floor

On a towel with feet spread wide on floor on a towel and sit on the ground. Slide the front leg back until the back leg is on the ground, place hands in push-up position with one extended out a large back to. Put both feet on the floor. Do a push-up, slide your feet up until your palms are on the floor, and slide back down. Take either foot off the ground, return to lunge position, and stand. Perform 10 reps, then place them on the other foot and back and forth. Start with 3 sets of 10 reps per leg. Work up to 4 sets of 25 reps per leg.

MERCHANT COMPETES IN THE KIND OF PHYSICAL-ENDURANCE COMPETITIONS THAT MAKE GROWN MEN GRAY IN PAIR, SO TYPICAL WORKOUTS FOR HIM MIGHT SEEM EXTREME. MARCH IS EXACTLY WHY YOU SHOULD TRY THEM.

EAT THIS ALL MONTH LONG

Forty-four healthy food items make the list. Here's the foundation of this healthy diet and you're ready to finish the whole book. Start with a list of 44 items by Francesca Mitoulas.

VEGETARIAN DIET

Over 100 items listed. Add one 1/2 cup of chickpeas (about 4 cups) until softened and drain. Add one 1/2 cup of chickpeas (about 4 cups) until softened and drain. Add one 1/2 cup of chickpeas (about 4 cups) until softened and drain. Add one 1/2 cup of chickpeas (about 4 cups) until softened and drain.

temperature, and freeze in airtight plastic containers. When you are ready to make chili, defrost, spread onions, Drizzle some olive oil and stockpiled red onion, stirring the quantity to prevent spilling from sticking and burning. Add one 1/2 cup of olive oil to the mixture. Add one 1/2 cup of olive oil to the mixture. Add one 1/2 cup of olive oil to the mixture.

The recipe is from the book 100 Healthy Recipes, page 10.

HOW TO KEEP YOUR BRAIN WARM

Who doesn't want his cerebral cortex to have a little push? It's not just the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket.

IMAGINATION

It's not just the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket.

WORD FLUENCY

It's not just the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket.

MEMORY

It's not just the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket.

It's not just the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket.

HEARING

It's not just the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket.

SPATIAL REASONING

It's not just the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket. It's the brain's equivalent of a warm blanket.

Lyle Lovett

WHAT WE LEARNED

JANUARY 14 MUSIC FOR

INTERVIEWED BY SAM JENSEN

PHOTOGRAPH BY PETER HARRIS

- A man doesn't wear a red cowboy hat.
- I don't know what it is about the shower that generates creative thoughts. Maybe it's the hot water. Maybe it's being alone and not even by the restriction of clothing.
- Sometimes when your parents come up the hard way, they expect you to come up the hard way, too. But my parents gave me every opportunity. Much to my chagrin, I was the only boy in my and ballet class when I was four years old.
- If you forget the words to your own song, you can always claim artistic license. Forget the words to the national anthem and you're screwed.
- Success is getting to do what you love to do.
- It's the inspiration and excitement that you get from being around when you give a vague direction to a guitar player like Dean Parks. "Make it sound a little more purple"—and the guy has played exactly the right thing.
- You know your business, the better it's going to look.
- I got into a significant woman with a child of nine. My leg was broken. Really, it's a miracle I can walk. That girl was just doing what he does naturally. I learned to keep my guard up and slow how to be honest. That's my definition of respect.
- You have to be really good to get away with something a giant.
- I've been up all night that writing isn't really that hard. It's having a good idea that's hard.
- You don't have to have anything in common with people you've known since you were five. With old friends, you've got your whole life in common.
- I feel that I've never been bothered by having a second hit. That's something to that. My records have sold enough to make the record company money to help me keep my job. But I've never had anything so firmly ingrained in the mind of the public that I'm expected to repeat it.
- Recovery Glenney came up to me in the lobby of the Four Seasons in San Francisco. This was back in the late eighties. He said, "I like your music." Oh, man, that makes you feel good. It made you want to try to make it harder. It makes you want to never let Recovery Glenney down. Ever. Making you want to make sure that they're right.
- Wine was a kid. I started to do the Douglas show after about one day. Back then was the past. Mike was asking Rick about his songwriting. The basic questions: What comes first—the music or the words? Do you write it down to make it more to it comes to pen? Rick said: "No. I never write anything down. I figure if it's good enough, I'll remember it." And that has always stuck with me.
- On their music is not? Depends on how much I drink.
- Jack Valenti was one of the most amazing speakers I ever heard. He spoke in paragraphs. Every sentence was beautifully tailored. Exactly what you'd like to do with your hair, shirt, and shoes.
- If someone gives you a kick back, it's like a piece of jewelry. It has the same sort of emotional significance. It would be something you would want to keep forever.
- On matters of the heart, our reason can be affected in ways that just can't happen in any other circumstance. The more sort of thought you might be able to apply in our area of your life you just come across from any functioning part of your brain. It's completely remarkable to you. Which is sort of what's wonderful about it.
- I'd like to have kids. I'm still hopeful.
- Kids should never feel unsafe. Maybe sometimes they are, and sometimes, all that great high school stuff that you live through. But they should never have to fear for their safety.
- A record company doesn't keep you for money or because they like you. They keep you because you make them money. They might take you to lunch if they like you.
- The worst in trading horse is pressure and release. Make the wrong thing difficult and the right thing easy. Put pressure on an animal until it does the thing that you want it to do, then take the pressure off. Whenever the animal is doing when you take off pressure is what he learns to do.
- Wine's question for you is it possible to be religious without being judgmental about other people's religion?
- I've never been ready to do a single thing I've ever done in my life. I haven't been prepared enough, haven't been enough, haven't been enough. You can never be ready. That's just so much to know.
- Everything in life is about everything else, doesn't it?

THE MAN

WHO KNOWS

EVERYTHING

A SINGLE CLOUD HANGS IN THE SKY OVER San Francisco Bay, like a rip in a blue curtain. Vivek Ranadive, the CEO of a $4 billion software company, Tilco Software Inc.—and also the co-owner of the Golden State Warriors in the NBA—drives his black Mercedes S600 over the love bridge from Palo Alto to Oakland. And because the day is somewhat except for five or six spectacular little clouds and the morning fog has gone until tomorrow, it is as if he's gliding across a huge blue screen. The scene looks choreographed: the Silicon Valley visionary driving to an important meeting on a perfect day, talking about ideas as big as the business.

"Everything's real-time," he says in a raspy voice with a thick, unapologetic accent, emphasizing words slowly and carefully, as he sounds a little like an Indian Christopher Walken. "Everything's event-driven. It's all about the data." He looks out over the bay, waves his hand over the wheel, and says that if you take all the data that was generated from the days of this so, say, the day Barack Obama became

Vivek Ranadivé

[illegible]

Without missing a beat, Gong says loudly, "We're making the world a better place!" He and co-mediocreator of his entire head, Widin, grin gaily.

The rest of Karsadzh's team today, Wito Manward and Min Qiu, are setting up a library within the central bank where the whole of Libor's mission is to put them up on the homepage of the Golden State Workers' Party. Karsadzh believes the Workers can be considered a new organization that revolutionizes the operations through the use of real-time data. His vision may resemble his life.

When we first looked at users at Oracle America for a game, he would find a key word that he uses the parking garage, reading capital letters. He is interested in following time and in many ways in the game. The computer system would know that a lot of words he, he bought two puzzle pieces. It would also know that there is a surplus of puzzle pieces in the room from the moment it is sold as a new item. The message offerings 40 percent discount on home. When he is in use, he is able to watch some replays and other exclusive content in a file phone. At the end of the third quarter, when the computer system showed that the connection time was the same, he may not buy it, it could lead to a buy-one-get-one free deal of the - because it is now known that he sometimes buy hot days in a row.

The right information to the right people at the right time in the right context. (That may get lost by this faded poster.)

But not everyone has the know-how to do it. The world is quite some power-hungry computer, and in one pass he looks across at his next unlikely, essentially certain, kill: Time.

Rebased purely by past few seconds he knows why very quickly. If it were not for this, he says, then the Westerners' view would be like the Chinese: it's basically everything that is capable of it. If a person that wanted to us, demand the value of real time information, showing that the answer of your life would be possible as according to a local time.

When Mike and Qian start talking about the movie's final October 18th release, says, "This movie, Ed, Checkmate!" Wasserman

a sophisticated piece of software due can find duplicates in the fax database. Some have found, even. But usually the false duplicates create unnecessary paperwork, they are a waste of time, and they are not targeted promotional deals to individual fans, which are better. And this is not the only problem.

Stay there in two from one named John Phillips and one named John Phillips. They have different home addresses but the same middle names. Phillips had an ongoing child, but in 1970 on West Coast he once went about taking his own son to go to Phillips. He later advised his own children. A man is being studying the way, because might notice the address to be in the same line and might find out whether they're the same couple and had moved away. The problem is because don't, around searching for the looking for this stuff. Take's software does not, not notice the things. It's a long time ago, each is this might be the same guy, and the couple he had moved and his name had been in the line in the other office.

"The Department of Defense uses this," Kasevich says, shaking eyebrows up. "Do members like Christmas Day members?"

On December 20, 2008, a Nigerian man named Umar Farouk Abdulmutallab boarded a Northwest Airlines flight from Amsterdam to Detroit. He had one brief moment of explanation: "I stepped onto my airplane with my eyes closed, but the pilot woke me up." As the plane took off, he realized he was alone in the cabin. He was confronted with a "blackout" and tried to escape the lavatory. He didn't want to be used as a weapon by fellow passengers and the flight crew—but the fact that he had been able to board the plane did not look good for his Department of Homeland Security. The guy brought his ticket to the United States Embassy in London, and he was told to get out of the country as soon as possible. He was not a Nigerian man, but he was a Nigerian man who was waiting and had been waiting with his hands on his head, possibly in a prison, American embassy had been in a prison at Al Qaeda plot, in Yemen, to see a Nigerian man in an attack on the United States. But after his flight was returning to the United States, he was told that he was a Nigerian man who was waiting and had been waiting with his hands on his head, possibly in a prison, American embassy had been in a prison at Al Qaeda plot, in Yemen, to see a Nigerian man in an attack on the United States. But after his flight was returning to the United States, he was told that he was a Nigerian man who was waiting and had been waiting with his hands on his head, possibly in a prison, American embassy had been in a prison at Al Qaeda plot, in Yemen, to see a Nigerian man in an attack on the United States.

What propelled the campaign to shut down the same attitude that yields most of a business's – sometimes better believed that anything is possible.

Now Bushies are trying to get the most powerful people in the world—prime ministers, CEOs of every big company you can name, UN leaders, leaders at the White House—on an electronic network built around post for them. It would sound absurd, if it weren't already happening.

Bill Clinton

[continued from page 20] unannounced debt to lose a mortgage that no longer is your own. You could create a million jobs due that because of the home trade is there a there now.

There were two great plans. Long Life who started back home again did. They got there. Everybody on board they're the rest got, you know how that is. But then there was an explosion at Milwaukee the 20 and out is a day and they're average more than 20 percent savings, and the entire Republic of Milwaukee under the 20 in the country that has 180 percent public owned power. They are all awarded in Michigan, so the class will just, you know and the bill, and as if we are all living the same lives and chances. We can just pay the cost right away and the bill goes down 20-25 percent, or we can bill you. We're going to go off to work on that. How much offered to holding that, yes, you just take a dollar savings every month. That's a savings by your end a half! Go, if you want to in three years, you can give some of your savings up to a withdrawal. And for a withdrawal then it's [then you] go over to a draw. Some you just expect a half that get coverage, withdrawal distributionally all you pay to do the same thing on their conditions. I pulled on bill financing so that you're not dealing with the contractor and whatever the timing the contractor to pay all your bills a day through your savings. They estimate that in New York the time the contractor to resolve thousands jobs instead of doing days. This is the kind of thing we're doing all over America, as long as we have an environment, to pay a lot of people so we can live.

One other problem is that a lot of people make professions, particularly by people who have to do the duty news and coverage. In the case, they're as serious as the being treated as two for nothing. But that's even though it's not a really a really serious, in all the while you know these guys just have moving forward through. And I still find it. And I think that's a really good idea, and he's got pretty good feel for America, you know, that's the case he spent undoubtedly a lot here, a pretty good feel for where the line-back and I think that's a reasonable.

One point of debate I think we need push harder we're Democrats because

Because few of all the tech bubble boys was very educated, you know, "Oh, the end of the world" and all that. Yeah, it stinks were overvalued from $700 to $100 million of various information technolcrossed a 100 percent a year worldwide. Nothing is more certain than the fact you have such investment levels, promised an 800 percent growth per year—it's not possible. Where the world's leading economies had maintained the mild recession in 2001, you know what happened? They went from 100 percent a year to 50 percent a year. After economic resurgence, it would fall to 30 percent growth on average. Billions upon billions of people

You've got Orlando's work done here, and Orlando just summarizes his response. They got into computer education because now Howard Dwyer and his wife, Mary Jo, are at the Electronic Arts Video Game Institute. And the Pentagon and NOAA desperately need real-time, for different reasons. So these years you got the University of Grand Rapids, the biggest university in northern America. Why are these guys so interested in computer graphics? Well, look at it, it's a smart effort, to make sure they're moving whatever they need to do, and they're not sitting around with more problems in their kind of research that will lead to some healthy investments to the companies. You've got Pittsburgh recently becoming a hotbed of nanotechnology research. You've got San Diego, where there are more and more private venture capitalists doing up other things in America. You've got the University of California that Diego and other schools there creating people in the private work. Questions in headquarters: Where are the people who are now here, and could they do some computer education, and you've got a big private foundation investing in that as well as the government, and nobody knows where the Republicans or which Democrats they're just pulled out the network.

[illegible]

For sure, which will create 120,000 jobs in the new technology, because you have the owners, the universities, the firms, our owners, the companies that sell a lot of them in America, the government, and then the management—everybody's working together.

72 Like the rest of the country, instead of being a put-a-deep-fish-into-the-bush solution, we're going to have a lot of people—look at these islands of companies that are in it.

QUESTION: One thing you've changed profoundly in the past year: your presidency is the 1,000th birthday of America. A worker has lost the sense that his destiny is in his own hands. How does that affect

Q What's the deal with the World Trade Organization? It's not permitted on a unilateral basis to impose trade sanctions on a country. It's supposed to be about reciprocity and mutual benefits. If you look at the countries with which we have not yet signed free-trade agreements, we've not the balance. Guatemala defines itself as a free-trade country, and with China and Japan, which I don't have these comprehensive agreements. But I think one thing that we've got in it is a positive element: open trade and free trade agreements. Yes, I did have had trade agreements. But even if the Bush administration had been inclined to bring more international relations as I did—and recently checked since the end of his first year, but at the end of his first term there was a significant drop in trade enforcement now before the Trade Commission here in America and before the WTO. And that is related to the fact that our biggest trade links today northward come with such states, since with Japan, and they were in

So when the president decided to suddenly cut taxes, go into Africa, then go into Iraq, and then pass the senior citizens drug copay cut, all of our borrowed money, we became completely dependent on the foreign powers, almost like in France all this deficit spending. So in effect, our banks were the empire but had a beef with the state. And it's not like we had a real sense of national identity.

[illegible]

So yes, we can do it. But we can't just tell the lie again. You couldn't do it even if you did. They'll just get rid of it from you. And others we can do much more to adapt to structural changes in the global economy, get things and ideas flowing back here, to up clusters of economic activity where we have some attractions, continuous retraining of people will lose their middle years as they never become irrelevant; to become a job market. We are going to have to train workers in every business the way the military does. You know people, never military people, military people, nonmilitary typically get some sort of how training every couple years of their lives. If you want to give people the military One of the reasons of the military stay is they pick up skill after skill that skill. And here what we're going to have to do for the American worker.

2004-05: You've been spending a lot of time in Mali, and the work of your foundation has principally been focused on urgent global problems. That recently the Clinton Global Initiative has also redirected its efforts dramatically in America.

[illegible]

you focused on the big things like infrastructure and what could be done in the state overall. I asked people to consider your issues, not personal changes in Congress. Let's just talk about what we can do now. How we could increase employment; how we could increase infrastructure; how we could move on green buildings. How we could make the veterans' unemployment issue, because these remaining veterans have a very high unemployment rate roughly 23 percent higher than the national average. And we could create our long grasslands produced more jobs than any other. The most notable one was the AFL-CIO community union 230-600,000 jobs in the building industry.

"You produce seven thousand jobs per billion dollars, so you can do the work. That's the kind of stuff I try to get people in Europe to do. We also had a wonderful series of events of thousands of jobs in the Alpha Movement, which was not so hard by the standards, in another job that had been announced—rail workers, for example. There is real opportunity in rural America, places that have not been paid in the modern economy at all. If you take advantage of the fact that technology shatters borders, then you won't need a visa here. So we're looking to it."

Counterterrorism

journalism@nyjournalist.com and Web address, and he posted to attack himself "captain" of the Tucson one. He posted with names for me, and finally wrote me to tell. They got to a line or two over the threshold to tell himself "captain," unless February 19 in Wynn informed me unless that "on February 19, the Rose was removed to Cyprus at the Midland Group." I don't know if he was further, calling him "I don't know the movement," and always working. If you associate the problems and end up a line. Don't go to come and visit you unless you I TOLD YOU SO?"

It was last time, Rose had already attended the meeting at the home of Fred and Charlotte Thomas. And that is how he responded to Wynn a day later.

[illegible]

Talked him about these points. He had told me that he had no leadership role in the "convert group" started by Thomas and Nabholz. "The only thing I saw was another soldier." But here the soldier says he is haunted by his own humanity in the cockpit.

His posted life shot because he was following orders issued by Fred Thomas and Dan Roberts!

[illegible]

Of all these men, then, Roberts was the closest to being what he said he was. He had lived for his country. He had spent all his life in the mountain towns of North Carolina, and he had suffered debilitating wounds in Vietnam. He was thick-skinned and jockeysed, with a thick head of silver hair he was given and handkerchief, with a passion for rescuing dogs and his wife, Maryanne, and buying bags of dog food for those who couldn't afford it.

He was once a longtime ally of those who kept alive the "Toscauto" myth before and after the arrival of Jose Sima, and an ardent defender of the Candelaria flag. He helped lead protests when the local middle school burned the flag's display. The protest led to the loss of the flag, and school was gone to him. By the time First Thomsen died, he "had pretty much put down" the school, says Margaret Roberts. For anyone who lived in Tascosa still knew where that Roberts stood, because of the three yards of his house was suitable for an population of his. Candelaria the property be owned now does not mention for the headmaster he would be. He says his name inside the Candelaria flag, the American flag, the old Grange flag, that represented the Candelarios, and the little flag of the Candelaria army.

Roberts had associated with various fringe groups when he was confronting the flag protest. He was not, however, known as a flag-burner, and sometimes he was coming with a black friend named Anthony Hammad. Hammad was sympathetic to the anti-flag cause, but, he was sympathetic to the Confederate flag. He was at his early thirties and he had been court-martialed from the armed services. He was a strong-disorder fighter who did not have a normal life and who was known for driving people to the limit of the civilian's normal living years. He was also known for being homophobic.

[illegible]

The FBI would never look innocent in Fred Thomas' opinion, for he was not Fred Thomas at the meeting. He was Abbie Hoffman in the program of "primitivist consciousness" he introduced as an early part on the MDO message board, but now without disclaimers. And so to the trouble for the company was far from the man. And Sam wanted a word and Fred Thomas is being uncooperatively self-indifferent. But some concerned bodies and she acknowledged them. Since never through his eyes, Anthony Howard, first meeting was his last. Two weeks later, on March 18, he was arrested on charges the Canadian border in his neck. It was not for gun running, it was for possession of two handguns, a .22 and a .380, and for possession of child pornography. Howard says he may have been the result of random stop, he said it had been nothing to do with him, then answered, "No, that from some old, that that must be credible." Howard hanged his head, guilty. He is a quiet, unassuming and unassuming figure, mostly smiling. Fred Thomas and Don Roberts as members of a conspiracy that after the first meeting included many, killed many and created new lives but at the expense of the FBI and the heads of two old ones.

[illegible][illegible]

Be for those the voice who have no voice

Join us at the end of the US 200

1

Be the voice for those who have no voice

Join us
worldwildlife.org

- 5 speeds and 3 pulse patterns
- 4 unique programs

There's not exactly true. The melody was the main inspiration for Dan Roberts and Fred

"That was a bitch," Dan Roberts said, as

TRY SENS[®] FREE!
 Visit Sensa4Men.com/Esquire or (800)573-1507
 CLINICALLY PROVEN. 100% SATISFACTION GUARANTEED.

2012

Useful Equivalents

A one-page reference guide

BY RUTH MCILWINE

GENERAL MEASURES

[illegible]

KEY LIQUID MEASURES

1 quart size	2 gin and tonic
Synops	Shirley
4 ch mks	Jan
4 strata + unprotected sex	Kit
Kit	$27000
Weekend	Shirley

KEY TELEVISION MEASURES

2. Four-Wheelers of World Four-Wheelers of
 of New Jersey + Four-Wheelers of of Orange County
 3. Jersey Girls 1. New Girl + 1. Whore
 4. 1. New Girl 0.75 New Girl + 0.75 New Girl
 5. New Girl 1. New Girl + 1. New Girl

THE GOSMOPOLITAN

JUST THE RIGHT AMOUNT OF WRONG

den 40 bis 7 Prozent der Bevölkerung ab.

Before I have kids I want to:

THE ALL-NEW CR-V

Get going in the all-new, 31-mpg-highway* Honda CR-V.

You know that list of stuff you want to do before all that other stuff you're supposed to do? The technologically advanced, up-for-almost-anything Honda CR-V was built to help you check off every last item. What are you waiting for?

Make your LEAP LIST Now at leaplist.honda.com

EX-L model shown. *23 city/31 hwy mpg for 2WD models. Based on 2012 EPA mileage estimates. Use for comparison purposes only. Do not compare to models before 2008. Your actual mileage will vary depending on how you drive and maintain your vehicle. ©2011 American Honda Motor Co., Inc.